Europe a Shambles?
Better Than Monkey Glands
Poor Overcoat Makers
Ambition the Picker

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright, 1924, by Star Company)

LLOYD GEORGE predicts another worse war in Europe, "that will convert Europe into the shambles, within the lifetime of this generation." It's a gruesome prediction. But the growing power of labor in England and throughout Europe, and the greater intelligence, and real knowledge of European labor leaders may help the situation.

Hitherto a few ambitious, covetous, or patriotic individuals have set the workers to fighting. The workers had nothing to say about it.

In England, just now, they have all to say. It may make a difference, when the men that must do the fighting decide on peace or war.

FRANCE takes a wise step in arranging to cut down her army by 220,000 men. Those men, producing wealth as civilians and no longer a burden on other workers, will help solve the French problem.

If now France will encourage her ally, Poland, working virtually under French dictation—to cut down the huge Polish army, that also will help.

They don't need us in any League over there. What they need is to settle their trouble, in the only possible way, by retrenchment.

THE brilliant surgeon, Voronoff, who plants glands from animals in human beings, restoring youth and viro—more or less—is off to Africa for new experiments. One thousand animals are ready for him, including many chimpanzees, so much like humans their blood can be used for transfusion in human beings.

VORONOFF will do marvelous work, undoubtedly. But a remade man is, at best, a second-hand product. Science should devote itself to saving the real new youth that now goes to waste. Approximately 109,000 human babies die in the United States every year, before they are one month old. To save them would be worth more than revamping old men, with monkey glands.

OVERCOAT MAKERS can sympathize with potato farmers. Occasionally farmers plant too many potatoes; the crop is big, the price so low, it hardly pays to dig. The next year farmers plant too few potatoes, and the price goes out of reach.

That happened this year to makers of overcoats; they made too many kinds. Good manufacturers are overstocked with coats they don't want to carry through another year, and they are cutting to the bone. This may interest you, if you need an overcoat.

NEXT YEAR, the manufacturers, remembering their burnt fingers of 1923-1924, will probably manufacture too few overcoats. Then prices will be above the normal.

Never spend money uselessly, but if you will need an overcoat this year or next, you will probably save money buying it now.

IT IS proposed that the United States admit "picked immigrants." How will you pick them? A picking system would have rejected Steinmetz, crippled hunchback who came here as a boy, became head electrician of

WILL BURY CHILD SHE BORROWED 'FOR LOVE'

Sad Death of Little Sydney Miller Blamed on Cruel Interference of Law

Springfield, Jan. 21.—Whatever consolation comes of kissing baby lips cold in death and closing a little casket for the last time, Mrs. Peach Winstone Miller of Southbridge will have it.

She will bury Sydney.

Sydney, the boy she took out of a hospital when he was three hours old and raised until the law pushed him into an almshouse, where he died. His real mother was waiting for the courts to give her the six-months-old boy she had relinquished at his birth. It was a fight between foster mother and mother. Death cheated both.

Today the only consolation the foster mother has is seeing the baby she had fondled for six months tucked away for the last time.

MOTHER GIVES UP BODY.

It will be unlike the cozy crib he has been snuggled into with a woman's fervent kiss so many happy nights. His coverlet will be frozen ground and a wreath in which woven in white pinks will be.

"From Mama."

Mary Bridgin Moriarty of No. 113 Butler street, who brought Sydney Winstone Miller into the world last July and who wanted him back when he was such a chubby, pretty youngster, today relinquished the last rights to the babythose of burial.

Tonight, in the saddened home of the Millers, will rest Sydney, the child who had made it so happy, and who, until a short time ago, Miller thought was his own.

Was there ever an infant whose innocent advent into the world stirred up more deceit?

The man who helped bring him into the world deserted the woman who bore him. Into the hospital where Sydney was born

7 DROWNED IN OIL AT PITTSBURG FIRE

Pittsburgh, Jan. 21.—Seven men were drowned in oil, two captains and five hosemen of the Pittsburgh Fire Department, while fighting a fire at the Butler street plant of the Atlantic Refining Company.

The bodies were recovered after the fire had been brought under control.

The dead are:

A number of firemen also were injured.

The fire broke out in a tank containing 10,000 gallons of oil, soon after 5 o'clock. Seven companies answered the alarm and fire lines were thrown out for four or five city blocks on each side of the refinery, which adjoins a residence district and has been the scene of a number of costly blazes. Many families deserted their homes and additional fire apparatus was summoned as the morning wore on.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the captains and their men were on a ladder which extended above the top of a tank adjoining the burning oil. The oil in this tank was being drawn off when the ladder broke and the men fell into the tank. A chemical extinguisher, automatically released by the heat of the burning oil nearby, the authorities said, [illegible] the oil and fumes arising from it was believed to have overcome the struggling firemen.

They sank almost at once and

QUACKS IN BOSTON ARE EXPOSED

More Than 100 "Vultures" Swarm the City, Preying on Credulous and Ignorant

Travel through the South and you will see great black birds hanging in the sky ready to sweep down upon helpless prey half dead or alive, sink in beak and talons and drink their fill.

They are vultures.

After an investigation lasting two months, the Boston American has discovered that Greater Boston is swarming with human vultures who are picking clean to the bone, day after day, deluded ignorant persons. Picking them by the thousands and doing it in the most despicable manner possible.

These vultures are quack doctors, bogus doctors, disreputable fakirs posing as doctors, in one instance a man who had graduated from one of the recently exposed diploma mills and in another instance a licensed practitioner who attempted to attack the American's woman investigator.

This newspaper investigated more than 115 of these vultures. What they found true of one was true of most of them. They revealed themselves as lying, cheating fakirs, devoid of ethics and concerned only in obtaining money under false pretense.

Some of them are not even registered with the State Board of Registration, yet are practicing daily. Some are even so bold as to advertise in periodicals. One man flooded Boston proper with "Health" pamphlets, hiring two men to distribute thousands of them.

Some have trade drummed up for them by cigar clerks, salesmen and drug store clerks. They "specialize" in men. A few specialize in women, but most of them do a catch-as-catch-can business, taking on all comers.

M. D.'S AMAZED

The American, beginning tomorrow, exposes these vultures for what they are. This newspaper will reveal in detail what its investigators discovered and their experiences.

It will print names and addresses, dates of call and receipts for payments made to these quacks, in some cases prescriptions written and enough pills to fill an ash can.

What the American discovered is

BLOCKADE 'POSTPONED' BY REBELS

Mexican Insurgents Act as U. S. Cruiser Arrives for Duty Off Port of Tampico

Washington, Jan. 21 (I.N.S.)—The United States government today warned Adolfo De La Huerta, Mexican Revolutionist leader, not to lay any mines at the entrance to Mexican ports, and that if such mines have been laid they are to be removed at once. Failure to comply will result in adoption of "appropriate measures to the United States to protect its commerce and its nationals from the grave danger involved."

Washington, Jan. 21.—The rebel blockade of Tampico has been "postponed" until the end of the present month, Rear Admiral Magruder reported today on his arrival off that port aboard the Richmond.

The State Department said that Admiral Magruder had not indicated the source of his information. His message served to relieve tension in Washington in connection with the Tampico situation.

The commander of the Richmond was sent to Tampico with wide discretionary powers in meeting the situation he found there.

ARRIVES OFF TAMPICO.

The Richmond will remain off Tampico for the present. No orders have been sent to the cruiser Omaha and the six destroyers accompanying her from Panama to Vera Cruz, but probably some of them will join the Richmond at Tampico. They are due in two or three days.

Officials are unwilling to comment on the significance of the word "postponed" in Admiral Magruder's message. It is evident, however, that they are hopeful that the blockade problem will not be revived and that the warning to Mexican rebel leaders, emphasized by the presence of American war vessels at Tampico, has been sufficient.

WARNED ON MINES.

The Richmond steamed northward to Tampico after picking up at Vera Cruz most of the crew of the stranded cruiser Tacoma. These men probably will be distributed among such other vessels as may arrive later at Tampico.

The Richmond was reported as lying "off Tampico," which was taken as meaning that she was outside the proposed blockade line, observing conditions and prepared to render such assistance to American merchantmen as may be necessary.

The United States naval tug Bay Spring, which was standing by the stranded American cruiser, Tacoma, today put into Vera Cruz to escape a severe hurricane raging off the Mexican coast. Two other tugs are guarding the Tacoma, which, it is feared, will be a total loss.

Upon arrival at Tampico, the Richmond was ordered to warn the rebel gunboats that their blockade will not be recognised by the American gov-

Freezing Weatheer Prevents Racing at New Orleans

New Orleans, Jan. 21.—Fair Grounds racing officials declared the race program scheduled to be run today off on account of frozen conditions of the track.

Presiding Judge Murphy stated that the danger to life and limb for jockeys and horses was too great to risk running of the card under the extraordinary weather conditions.

AQUITANIA BATTLES HEAVY HEAD GALE

On Board Liner Aquitania, Jan. 21. (By Radio to I.N.S.).—The Aquitania is encountering heavy gales in the North Atlantic and much of the time during the past twenty-four hours her speed was reduced to ten knots an hour. She is due to reach New York Wednesday.

New York, Jan. 21.—The french liner La Bourdonnais arrived today, seven days late, after having been battered by intermittent gales for two weeks. On January 7 a giant comber tore the bridge deck loose from its stanchions, smashed two lifeboats and caused other damage. At times speed was reduced from a normal 14 knots to something less than two.

WIFE OF COUNCILOR MORIARTY IS HURT

Mrs. James P. Moriarty, wife of City Councilor Moriarty, is at City Hospital with a broken leg, sustained when she fell from a chair in her home today. Mrs. Moriarty was standing on the chair winding a clock when the accident occurred.

There was no one in the house at the time and she was forced to drag herself to the telephone to call for a doctor. Dr. Jones of South Boston, responding to her call, found her unconscious in the front hall. He ordered her removed to the hospital.

DEATH TOLL GAINS 56 OVER 1922

Goodwin's Report Shows, However, That There Were 106,000 More Cars

Five hundred and seventy-eight lives was the toll of automobile accidents in Massachusetts last year, according to the report of Frank A. Goodwin, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

Though this total is an increase of fifty-six over the number killed in 1922, it is a reduction when the increase in the number of motor vehicles on the highways is considered.

Last year there were 106,000 more cars registered in 1922, according to the report.

Of those killed last year, 345 were pedestrians, 165 occupants of automobiles, 38 motorcycle riders, 20 bicycle riders and 8 children killed while coasting.

Though the number of fatalities from motor vehicles in recent years has been large, according to the figures, the records indicate a marked improvement since 1920, when Registrar Goodwin began his campaign to make the highways safe for everybody.

There were four less persons killed in 1923 than in 1919, notwithstanding the fact that there were more than twice as many cars registered last year as there were in 1919.

WOMAN GUILTY OF BURNING HER HOME

When a sealed verdict of guilty was opened in East Cambridge Superior Court today on the charge of burning insured property, Mrs. Alice Hankins of Melrose fainted and for more than two hours court attendants were busy trying to resuscitate her. Mrs. Hankins' home burned last April and needlework valued at $3,500, done by herself, was destroyed.

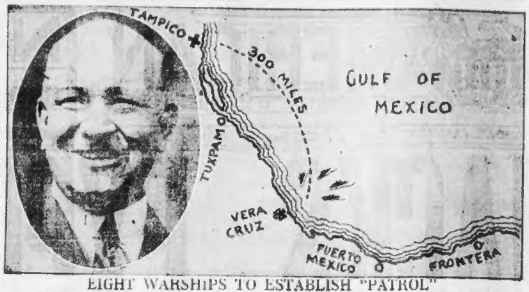
AMERICAN CRUISER ARRIVES OFF TAMPICO TO END REBEL BLOCKADE

U. S. NAVY LINE-UP OFF MEXICO



EIGHT WARSHIPS TO ESTABLISH "PATROL"

Map shows where the U. S. cruiser Richmond has already arrived off Tampico, the big oil port, to be joined later by her sister ship, the cruiser Omaha, and six destroyers with the supply ship Prometheus. The ships have been ordered not to enter any Mexican harbor nor give offence to any faction in the republic, also to beware of mines. They are ordered all to "stand by" for further orders when mobilization is complete at Vera Cruz. The Richmond is in constant touch by wireless with the Navy Department at Washington and with Secretary Denby (inset). Photo by International News Reel.

ernment and that if they interfere with the entry or departure of American commercial vessels bound in or out of the Panuce they will do so at their peril.

The Richmond, which has a powerful wireless apparatus, is also to serve as communication ship between the east coast of Mexico and the United States.

The abandonment of the blockade will considerably simplify the relations between the American government and the revolutionary faction. Persistance in maintaining the blockade in the face of an American naval force might result in some incident tending to a graver aspect.

WILL END BLOCKADE.

Flat denial was made by Admiral Eberle of the report from Tampico that six American destroyers and airplanes from Galveston were accompanying the Mexican Federal gunboat Bravo to the Gulf of Mexico.

"The fact of the matter," said Admiral Eberle, "is that we have no destroyers at this time, north of Colon, other than the six which are en route from Colon to Vera Cruz. All our destroyers in active service except the six going to Vera Cruz are with the fleet in Panama Canal waters."

OBEYING LAWS OF WAR.

Juan Manuel Alvarez del Castillo, representative of the De la Huerta revolutionary faction, who has just arrived in Washington as "special envoy and ambassador of the de facto government of Mexico" at Vera Cruz, today expressed surprise over the statement that the Yaqui forces being transhipped through American territory from Naco for use in the eastern section of Mexico were intended to be used for service in regions where American interests were represented to be in "grave danger."

He said that American lives and property were not endangered in territory under the control of the De la Huerta faction, which, he said, was observing the law of war and intended to protect the lives and interests of foreigners.

U. S. Naval Move Is Opposed by Obregon

Washington, Jan. 21 (Universal)—The Mexican Government is expected to make a protest to the State Department against the presence in Mexican waters of the fleet of American warships.

Although the fleet was ordered to Vera Cruz with the idea of breaking a blockade of oil ports and crippling the De La Huerta rebellion, it was said the sortie by the American vessels will be more harmful than helpful to the cause of President Obregon.

Meanwhile Mexico is negotiating for the purchase of ships to arm and send against the two rebel gunboats and will demand the right to handle the situation without outside interference.

INTEREST SWITCHES.

Official interest switched from observation of the armed conflict between the Obregon and rebel forces to an intense study of the effect of the dispatch of American warships, two cruisers, six destroyers and a supply ship.

The President and Secretary of State held a long conference. They were in constant touch with the cruiser Richmond which, already off Vera Cruz, has established radio communication with Arlington wireless towers here.

NEW PLAN OF REBELS.

In place of an embargo against the port of Tampico, which the State Department has protested, the De La Huerta forces will employ tactics that they claim will be fully as effective. There will be the declaration of a plan to attack Tampico from the sea and a warning to shipping to keep out of the line of fire between the two rebel gunboats and the land batteries of the Federal troops.

Mexico City Asserts U. S. Could Seize Rebel Craft

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE.

Mexico City, Jan. 20 (Universal)—The American fleet will be legally within its rights if it captures the Rebel gunboats Tampico and Zaragoza, now blockading the port of Tampico, according to Federal officials here.

Great Britain's attitude is causing considerable discussion. A British vessel that arrived at Puerto Mexico is charged with having brought supplies that found their way to the Rebels.

Mexican Federal Troops Pass Through El Paso

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 21.—A special train carrying approximately 1,500 Mexican Federal troops, passed through El Paso today at 6:45 a. m., and was immediately routed to Juarez.

Special guards of United States troops and El Paso police accompanied the train through the lower part of the city. The troops came from Western Mexico by way of Naco, Ariz., and will be sent to the interior of Mexico.

FOREST HILLS BOY KILLED BY TRUCK

Arthur Tortell, seven years old, of No. 2732 Washington street, Forest Hills, was instantly killed near his home today when he ran into a heavily loaded ten ton truck carrying crushed stone. His skull was fractured.

The truck was operated by Joseph Hart of Hyde Park, who was arrested on a technical charge of manslaughter. He was released in bail of $1,000.

WAIF IS DEAD

last July went Mrs. Peach Winstone Miller looking for a baby. She got Sydney three hours after he was born. To her own home she hastened with him. To her husband she revealed him as her own. He believed her.

Sydney's real mother sued Sydney's real father for her hospital bill. This started an investigation which revealed Sydney in the happy comfortable home of the Millers. Remember, all Sydney wanted was a home. The world owed him that.

He had it, but what did the law do, leave him in it? No, the law doesn't move that way. It dumped Sydney into a shabby ward in the almshouse where infants are numbered and looked after by the dozen.

LITTLE HEART BROKEN.

Sydney wasn't used to that. He died, probably of a broken heart.

"The law has taken its toll," said Leland S. Miller today, grief stricken and indignant over the death of the baby.

Instead of resenting the deception his wife had practiced, Miller, who had become much attached to the child, joined her in the fight for possession of the body. Miller openly blames the placing of the child in the almshouse for his death.

"We frankly acknowledged every charge made by the State against my wife," young Miller said today, "admitting that the child was not ours, that he was taken from the hospital three hours after his birth and falsely registered by my wife as her own, and we were ready to take our punishment, but we begged, pleaded, entreated the authorities not to take him away.

"According to the police, it was the intention of the State to find little Sydney a good home. 'In God's name,' I said to them, 'what better home can you find for him than that which has been his since he was three hours old?' They did not answer me.

"The law has killed this baby, the law, and saying this I am sure I shall be supported by public sentiment. I say that if Sydney was not taken from my father's home in Southbridge, and placed in the poorhouse to await the outcome of Miss Moriarty's suit against that young man, the baby would be alive today."

BABY CHOKED TO DEATH.

In Springfield Mary Moriarty, weeping as stricken and suffering young mother have weeped throughout the centuries, was scarcely able to give expression to her feelings.

"Please don't bother me," she sobbed. "It is a punishment from God! I don't know what to say, what to do, where to go, but crushed and suffering as I am I would not be in the place of my baby's miserable father for all the money of the Fords and the Rockefellers."

Baby Sydney, to give the boy the only name he had borne during his brief sojourn in life, choked to death with what the physicians called "status lymphaticus," a gland trouble which did not develop until Sunday morning.

Medical Examiner Frederick D. Jones, who performed the autopsy, waived aside any possible charge of lack of care and attention, and said the gland trouble could not have been due to change of residence or the probably slight alteration in feeding methods.

BOSTON QUACKS THRIVE ON VICTIMS

so startling that when its head investigator appeared before the committee on ethics of the Massachusetts Medical Asociation at No. 520 Commonwealth avenue, to make a fifteen-minute address, he talked for one hour and thirty minutes and what he revealed left the committee dumbfounded.

Dr. Charles Painter, chairman, ordered a vote of thanks to this newspaper, gave the asocation's unqualified backing and announced his amazement that such things existed.

"To keep the profession clean," said Dr. Painter, "this association stands ready to back you in a continued investigation."

OPERATE BOLDLY

What Dr. Painter and the other members of the ethics committee was told is what you are going to read in these columns beginning tomorrow.

The Boston American will tell you that there are practicing in Greater Boston today quacks who classify themselves as Clairvoyants.

Chiropractors.
Masseurs.
Natureopaths.
Spectro-Chrome, Therapists.
Metaphysicians.

ATTACK WOMAN

One quack asked an investigator for a sample of water. He was given a small bottle of cold tea with a drop of ammonia in it. Later he announced to the subject: "There is no doubt whatever in my mind. You have kidney trouble."

Some quacks refuse to examine a woman patient unless she removes her clothes. They provide no woman nurse attendant and work behind closed doors in what they call their "private office."

The attack on the American's woman investigator was made behind the locked door of a doctor's office in the heart of Malden. He is a registered physician.

This newspaper will reveal his name and address and the woman's story of that visit.

The American's investigators were examined at Boston City Hospital under the direction of Dr. Edmund C. Wilson, the assistant superintendent, before they began their work. They were given health and blood tests. They were pronounced sound.

Yet not a quack visited failed to find something wrong with them; in most cases a serious ailment.

The so-called men "specialists" never failed to find an investigator suffering from some serious ailment with a positive "pill" cure for from $15 to $50 and a cash demand on the spot. If the patient wanted to pay for the full cure in advance there was a reduction made.

PREY ON IGNORANT

How many men they have driven to commit suicide will never be known. But there are few indictments more terrible to an ignoramus than to brand him as these doctors do. The doctor who pronounces innocent subjects as victims of certain dreaded diseases commits mental murder on the spot.

Then suavely he tells the patient he can be cured and milks him of his money while feeding him harmless pills.

Women who become patients of quacks are told they are suffering from heart trouble, lung trouble, nervousness or stomach disorder.

In very few instances did an investigator for the American tell a quack visited that he was suffering from any disorder. The investigator merely said he "didn't feel well." The quack then did the diagnosing, evincing more interest in the visitor's pocketbook than anything else.

FIRST EXPOSE

Nearly every doctor visited diagnosed an ailment, then offered a cure. The cures ran from pills made by themselves and representing side graft.

One quack said he classed drug stores along with cigar stores and pool rooms. As to pills, he said, he preferred to roll his own.

The first vulture exposed tomorrow will be a busy man with an elaborate suite in the heart of Boston. He calls his office an "Institute" and himself a "Great Specialist." He will be named, his address printed and his business methods exposed. If you know of any person who has had experiences with him or other quacks, write the American.

Give full details and this newspaper will treat the matter as concerns the writer in strict confidence, but will expose the quack.

Lauds American for Expose of Quacks

UNQUALIFIED indorsement of the Boston American's expose of crooked doctors is contained in the following letter from Dr. Charles F. Painter, chairman on medical education and medical diplomas of the Massachusetts Medical Association:

"Investigation of the situation in this State, called to public attention by revelation of the way in which incompetent medical practitioners had secured registration in a neighboring State, has brought out the fact that many of the same ilk are practicing among us.

"The evidence procured through the activities of the Boston American has been submitted to the legislative committee on medical education and medical diplomas of the Massachusetts Medical Society.

"No doubt was left in the minds of the members of these committees of the need for drastic action on the part of all State auhorities having jurisdiction in these matters.

Furthermore, no sporadic attack on the evils revealed is likely to accomplish any permanent good. Steps must be taken, through legislative enactment, which will make the future existence of such conditions as now obtain impossible.

"The inadequately trained, but ostensibly qualified physician, possessing a degree in medicine from a school failing to satisfy the requirements for granting degrees must be prevented from registering in this State, for it is in this State and Wyoming alone where such may be legally registered.

"The 'quack' with no degree in medicine should be treated as any imposter would be treated, for he is liable because he is taking the public's money under false pretences.

"The State's machinery for defence against the first of these imposters should be strengthened by modifying the Medical Practice Act so that the board may accept as candidates only those who possess a degree in medicine from schools that they, upon a survey, rate as schools of high character. The scope of the Governor's selection should be enlarged so that men may be secured who are teachers of medicine in high-grade schools and therefore conversant with modern educational methods and their scope.

"In the opinion of the members of the above-mentioned committees of the Massachusetts Medical Society the work of the American in bringing to light these abuses is highly to be commended; has been carried on in a spirit of unmixed devotion to the public interest and should not be allowed to stop where it now is, for there are, beyond doubt, much richer fields in the same line to be tapped.

"CHARLES F. PAINTER,
"Chairman Committee on Medical Education and Medical Diplomas."

Connecticut Jurors to Probe Hub "Quack Mills"

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 21.—A presentment will be made to the superior court by the grand jury investigating the alleged fraudulent physicians practicing in Connecticut, following the session of the jury next week. This was announced today by Foreman Benedict M. Holden. This presentment will be in the nature of a report of the information that has been gathered, together with decisions relative to prosecutions, if any are deemed warranted, Mr. Holden indicated.

Senator Charles C. Cook of West Hartford and George A. Harmon of Suffield, committee of the Grand Jury to investigate the Middlesex College of Medicine and Surgery at Cambridge, and the Boston College of Physicians and Surgeons are expected to go to Boston tomorrow to make their investigations.

WENT TO BOTTOM.

The other firemen suffered severely because the mercury was 2 degrees below zero. All of the injured were firemen, who fell from the icy tops of the tanks to which they had climbed.

The cause of the fire has not been determined by officers of the company, nor would they venture an estimate of the loss, which consisted of two buildings and a considerable quantity of oil.

SLEEPING AUTOIST IS ROBBED OF $45

Haverhill, Jan. 21.—Dolora L. Couture of No. 37 Haleman avenue, Lawrence, asleep in his automobile on Washington street, awoke with a start. A pair of hands were exploring his pockets.

He looked up. As he did so the hands were withdrawn and a stranger leaped from the running board of the machine and fled. Couture gave chase with a companion, but the man escaped. Couture lost $45 in bills, his auto license and registration.

STOVE OVERTURNS, $4,000 HOUSE BURNS

Merrimack, N. H., Jan. 21.—Fire apparatus from both Manchester and Nashua responded to calls for help when a fire, caused by the overturning of an oil stove, destroyed the two-story frame dwelling of William Allen in this town. The house was occupied by Mr. Allen, his wife and three children. All escaped scantily clad and were cared for by neighbors. The damage is estimated at $4,000.

The picking system would have rejected Napoleon had he come to the United States when he went down to Italy and beat the Austrians. He was undersized, pallid, thin, and suffering from the itch.

THE PICKING system would have turned away Pope, who wrote the "Essay on Man" and some other things worth while. He was such a sickly little creature that he had to be sewed up in a canvas jacket each morning that he might sit up straight.

The safest "picking system" is to allow immigrants in future as in the past to be selected by their own ambition and energy.

SECRETARY DENBY says the Shenandoah will fly to the North Pole to annex valuable lands to the United States. There are lands there and oil wells inside the Arctic Circle—the Rockefellers have already proved that, and staked out a few claims.

But Perry has been ther for us already. Titles that would be established by flying there, making maps and photographs, would be doubtful as to value. Patriotism and land hunger are fine, but there should be no risking of life for North Pole territory. However, Secretary Denby's prediction that some other nation will get ahead of us, unless we make the trip this year, will make the fliers eager for the trip. If the flight is attempted, every man should be a volunteer.

IT HAPPENS once in a while, as Senator Capper tells you, in his weekly. Swindlers persuaded Dave Tapper, of Iowa, to buy some land in a Texas "town to be built immediately." Tapper paid $50 and got a deed. When he tired of paying taxes, his sister, Mrs. Hester Egbert, took the land and went on paying. Now, after [illegible] years, an oil company has paid Mrs. Egbert $10,000 for her land and one eighth of all the oil. That "eighth" pays her $1,000 a month. The swindlers swindled themselves out of a fortune.

But, observe that Mrs. Egbert did not buy stock—she bought land, and Texas land, at that. There is nothing like owning part of the earth.

RUNAWAY GIRL IS FOUND WITH SAILOR

Alline D. Fisher, fifteen years old, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Fisher of No. 28 Newton street, Braintree, who ran away last Monday, was found promenading the Charles River Esplanade with a sailor by Metropolitan Park Policeman Kenneth Chisholm.

The girl was suffering from chill and hunger and said she had not eaten since the day before.

She also told the policeman she had been sleeping during the early morning hours in freight cars near the South Station.

BANK-BREAKER TRACED BY CUT ON HIS HAND

Entered Merchants National in Kendall Sq.; Ransacked the Desks, Got Nothing

Twenty minutes after officials of the Manufacturers' National Bank at Kendall square, Cambridge, found that the bank building had been entered during the night, Cambridge police arrested Charles A. McDonald at his home, No. 282 Sixth street, East Cambridge.

Blood found about a shattered window through which the thief entered the building, together with the fact that persons who knew McDonald saw him loitering about the place late last night, were the clues which led to the arrest.

When taken at his home McDonald's right hand was found to be badly cut. It was a fresh wound and in his pocket was a blood-soaked handkerchief. At first he denied all knowledge of the break, but later, according to the police, he confessed.

Officers of the bank are at a loss to understand what the thief expected to secure in the banking room of the building. All the money and valuable papers of the bank were in burglar proof vaults.

When the first employes reached the bank today, they found papers strewn about the room, and the contents of desks and filing cabinets gave evidences of having been hastily examined.

Inspectors Mulvihill and Marr and Sergeant Mellan were called. They learned of McDonald having been seen in that neighborhood and went to his home.

McDonald was arraigned in East Cambridge Court on the charge of breaking and entering. His case was continued until next week.

RACES TO PORT WITH 810 GERMANS

Liner Seydlitz Swings to Boston in Attempt to Get Ahead of Rival

The storm battered and overdue North German Lloyd liner Seydlitz raced into port today to land her 810 German passengers before the Holland-America liner Veendam could reach New York and exhaust the German quota.

As the Veendam reached New York almost simultaneously, Boston officials will ask for orders from Washington before landing the Seydlitz passengers.

The German quota for the fiscal year, ending June 30 next, was within 1,300 of exhaustion before the arrival of the Seydlitz and Veendam, and probably the two ships will overrun it. In that case one of them will be fined $200 per head for all the overflow.

The Seydlitz ran into rough weather and, when it became apparent she would arrive in New York behind the Veendam, she was diverted to Boston.

She brings 292 cabin and 549 steerage passengers, all but thirty-one of whom were Germans. This is the largest number of Germans who have arrived at this port on a single ship since the war broke out in 1914.

PRIEST DENOUNCES MARRIAGE MOCKERY

"The desecration of sex and the mockery of marriage are two of the great causes of our national social unrest today," declared the Rev. Charles J. Arnold, S. J., in St. Mary's Church, North End, in a merciless indictment from the pulpit of lewd jokes, lustful shows and licentious books.

"If marriage, the foundation of human society, is undermined," continued Father Arnold, "then the entire nation, which is the superstructure, will crumble.

BORROWED MONEY OF SERVANTS

Showered With Gifts, but Not Allowed a Penny, She Fled Back to Stage

Edith Kelly Gould, divorced wife of Frank Jay Gould, who has been the centre of long-drawn-out litigation, declares that at last she has found happiness and it is "not amid the empty luxuries of a millionaire's wife."

Miss Kelly, who has been forbidden by French courts to use the name of Gould, has written of her life as a millionaire's wife in the following article:

By EDITH KELLY GOULD

Copyright, 1924, by International News Service.

London, Jan. 21.—Every little Cinderella working girl dreams of a Magic Prince. He must have a golden wand that will touch the drab texture of her life and turn it into all the rainbow glories of luxury and wealth.

In other words, he must be a millionaire.

Wonderful gowns, limousines, servants and jewels—all these things are showered on the girl who marries a millionaire, the modern combination of fairy godmother, magic carpet and Aladdin's lamp.

I used to dream of such a transformation of my life when I was in the chorus at the Gaiety. I worked hard for my few pounds a week. Life often seemed to me drab and dull, for my people were not well off, and I helped them all I could.

Then suddenly the unbelievably romantic happened. I went with the Gaiety chorus to New York, and there I met Frank Jay Gould, a member of one of the richest families in America—a multi-millionaire. He told me he loved me. It seemed a dream. I feared to grasp the reality lest it should vanish at my touch like a many-colored bubble.

COURTED 7 MONTHS

Frank Gould courted me for seven months before I consented to marry him. He was constantly in the theatre where I played, waiting at the stage door for me after the performance with costly flowers and extravagant gifts.

Life for me then was a foretaste of what it would be afterward, I thought—a gay succession of suppers and dances and parties with him and his millionaire friends.

He promised over and overagain that every luxury the world could offer should be mine when we were married.

Finally over on this side, he gave a house party in Scotland, at Abbotsford—Sir Walter Scott's famous home—and I was one of the guests. It was there, in those romantic surroundings, that I promised to marry him.

He did not give me any time to change my mind, but rushed me to Edinburgh, where we were secretly married by the sheriff.

"And now," I thought, like all young brides, "there will be only happiness for 'ever and ever' afterward."

There was both luxury and happiness for a time. Everything I could desire my husband gave me.

LOVED EARRINGS

I had a childish fancy for earrings. Every pair that took my eye was mine for the asking, however beautiful and costly. I had pearls and diamonds and emeralds and jade. My husband ransacked the jewelers' shops to please me.

One of Mr. Gould's first gifts to me was prompted by a whimsical thought.

I had been a chorus girl in the Gaiety Theatre. Very well. I should have the Gaiety Theatre for my very own! He bought it and gave it to me.

He would take me shopping and buy me three or four thousand pounds' worth of dresses in a morning.

The honeymoon was sheer bliss. We went first to the south of France and then to Mr. Gould's beautiful house in Maison Lafitte, near Paris. There was a whirl of entertainment there and in New York, where we spent a few months in the season. Seemingly I had attained my heart's desire.

And yet. . .

I began to realise that I was very, very bored. I, who had always earned my living, was not allowed to lift a finger in the way of work. There were servants to do everything. I was not allowed to put on my own bedroom slippers or give a single thought to household affairs. The idleness and aimlessness of my days drove me nearly frantic.

LITTLE LIBERTY

I could not choose my own friends. I had to accept my husband's circle. And they were all rich. I lunched and dined and supped with millionaires. And nobody talked about anything but money. I smelled, I touched, I tasted money.

And yet, odd as it may sound, in the midst of all this money I was practically penniless. Everything was provided for me, but my husband liked to do the buying himself, and I had always an empty purse.

When I wanted to send something home to my people, as I had always done when I was working, I actually had to borrow from my maid or the butler. They were financially better off than I, a millionaire's wife, for I was too proud to ask.

This attitude was not peculiar to my husband. I have noticed that nine millionaires out of ten are extremely thrifty—in small matters. They would rather give a check for a thousand pounds than ten shillings in money.

Such at least was my experience. For all the wildly extravagant gowns he gave me, my husband was seriously annoyed at my buying a dozen pairs of gloves or stockings.

I was more and more bored and unhappy. I began to dream again. And this time my dreams were the reverse of the dreams I had had in my girlhood.

Then I had longed for idleness and luxury. Now idleness and luxury were dust in my mouth, and I longed with all my soul for the free, hard-working days of the stage, when the money I earned was mine to spend, and I could call my soul my own.

I ran away.

I began to earn my own living as a dancer, sometimes in London, sometimes in Paris.

FRIENDS SHOCKED

Everyone was shocked at me. No one could understand my motives. When you look at the luxuries another has they seem wonderful to you. But you need only possess them without the most necessary things in life—freedom and love and work—to realize they are not in themselves alone worth having.

My husband was the most shocked of all. He thought he had given me everything I could possibly want. He was also very angry, of course.

We were divorced.

He said, "I shall fight you in the courts. You won't get anything more out of me."

But I am free! I have no longer any of the luxuries that once filled my life. I am back again in the old routine of hard work that was mine before I met Frank Jay Gould, the millionaire.

But I have learned where happiness is to be found—and it is not amid the empty luxuries of a millionaire's wife.

PAY RAISE FOR CITY EMPLOYES

Lawrence, Jan. 21.—Employes of the City of Boston to the number of 8,000 are soon to find the contents of their weekly pay envelopes more substantial.

That is, if the plans of Mayor James M. Curley, outlined here in an address before Lawrence Council, K. of C., are carried out.

"I am going to raise the pay of 8,000 employes of the City of Boston," said the Mayor, and he urged Lawrence to do likewise. In this way, he said, a fairer distribution of wealth would be brought about.

LEVENSON GOES UP BEFORE GRAND JURY

Henry E. Levenson, former Boston attorney, appeared before the Suffolk County Grand Jury today. He was escorted to the courthouse by a private detective.

Also summoned today to appear before the Grand jury was John F. Cronin, clerk of the Supreme Court. He was accompanied by Supreme Court Officer Richard Fitzgerald, who carried the papers and exhibits in the suit of Mayer Berman, former Higgins House proprietor, against Daniel H. Coakley, which was dismissed by Supreme Court Justice Wait a week ago.

Shortly after the Grand Jury had gone into session Mr. Coakley appeared before Supreme Court Judge Elias Bishop, where he made a request that he be allowed to appear before the Grand Jury.

The request was refused, Judge Bishop further admonishing the former attorney not to make the request in writing to the foreman of the Grand Jury, citing a recent case where two men were judged in contempt of court for doing so.

Mr. Coakley then made the request of District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, who refused him also.

EDWARDS RAPS 'GOLF' CHARGE AS INSULT

Y D Leader Hits Back at His Critics; Legion Men Defend Chiefs' Record

Major-General Clarence R. Edwards is fighting mad today.

The former leader of the Yankee Division had been charged with being appointed a brigadier-general by President Taft because of his ability as a golfer.

In a statement replying to the charge which was made by Colonel I. L. Hunt, counsel for Lieutenant Colonel Duncan K. Major, whose promotion to colonelcy is being opposed in the Senate, Edwards declared that his accuser was guilty of a "gratuitous and malicious" insult to the present Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The General added that his military record was on file for all who might care to see it.

Y. D. UP IN ARMS.

No less resentful over the slur at both the former President and the General were National Guard officers and former officers of the Yankee Division who held a conference at the Y. D. Club. After the conference Brigadier-General Logan, commander of the 26th Division, M. N. G., who led the opposition to Major before the Senate Committee, issued a statement which decalred that Edwards' record is a "story of splendid military accomplishment."

YD STATEMENT.

"The attack of Colonel Hunt, assistant judge advocate and classmate and friend of Lieutenant-Colonel Major, is not only vicious in its insinuations, but absurd in the statements.

"The military record of General Edwards is a story of splendid military accomplishment. Few, if any, officers of the United States Army at the beginning of the World War had an experience in direct command of troops in any way equal to General Edwards.

SELL PROPERTY FOR TAXES AFTER JAN. 31

City Collector William M. McMorrow today announced that all property on which taxes remain unpaid after January 31, will be advertised for an immediate sale. Interest at eight per cent, is now being charged on all unpaid taxes in excess of $200 from October 16 last. The total of taxes uncollected now amounts to $4,446,517.27.

CRIES TO GO HOME TO HUSBAND

Woman Accused of Killing Deputy Sheriff Leonard Hysterical; Questioned by State

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 21.—While the body of Deputy Sheriff Allen A. Leonard was being lowered into the grave in the little cemetery at Scottsville, ten miles from here, this afternoon, attorneys for the State were questioning Mrs. Carrie Leonard, the slain officer's sixty-year-old widow, who is charged with murder.

Mrs. Leonard who, since the husband's body was found Saturday with a bullet through the brain, had been unconscious, recovered consciousness shortly before noon. She expressed a desire to go home.

"My husband will wonder where I am. Why don't you let me go home?" she repeated to the nurses at the Rutland Hospital.

Apparently the woman did not know that her husband was dead and that, even while she spoke, services were being held over his body in the Congregational church at Wallingford.

THIRD WOMAN IN HOSPITAL.

Drs. A. H. Bellerose and F. W. Hammond examined Mrs. Leonard immediately after she emerged from the coma. At the conclusion of the examination they announced that the woman was normal and that she had simply been suffering from a mild case of hysteria and from nervous shock.

When the findings of the doctor were announced to Attorney General Frank Archibald and State's Attorney Charles E. Novak, they prepared to go to the hospital at once and subject the woman to a thorough examination in an effort to clear up the mystery surrounding the murder of her husband.

Orders have been given at the hospital that no one should talk to Mrs. Leonard, and nurses and hospital physicians did not discuss the murder with her.

Meantime the funeral services for the slain man were carried out under the direction of his son, Roy E. Leonard. The little church was crowded with friends of the dead officer, many of the mourners coming from points as far distant as Grandville, N. Y. The services at the church were simple and at the cemetery but a few moments were consumed in reading the ritual.

DENY CRUELTY CHARGES.

Stories that Leonard abused his wife and even went so far as to beat her with a horsewhip were denied by State's Attorney Novak today. The State's attorney said that after investigation he found the stories of the husband's brutality were without basis.

Another story denied by the prosecuting office was that Leonard had recently destroyed a small automobile bought by his wife. The attorney pointed out that Mrs. Leonard had never cared for automobiles, but had a strong liking for spirited horses. She owned a team of thoroughbreds, according to Mr. Novak, and several years ago one of these horses trampled her, injuring her badly. The husband was so aggrieved that he sold the team, but purchased another pair of horses for his wife.

Injuries sustained at that time were largely responsible for Mrs. Leonard's nervous condition and irritability, said Mr. Novak.

Mrs. Leonard is being held in the Rutland hospital in custody of Sheriff Henry R. Adams. The formal complaint charging first degree murder was sworn to by Adams and it is likely that the sheriff will remove the prisoner to the county jail within the next day or two.

The revolver found near Leonard's body is believed by State's Attorney Novak to have belonged to Mrs. Leonard.

Mrs. Leonard was arrested, State's Attorney Charles E. Novak says, by Sheriff Henry R. Adams, on Mr. Novak's complaint. Mrs. Leonard apparently did not know what was going on.

STILL A MYSTERY.

Two days after the finding of Allen Leonard's body, with a bullet hole in the head, the case appears to be as mysterious as ever. In the background is the fact that the first Mrs. Leonard divorced the deputy sheriff 16 years ago, and that the second Mrs. Leonard frequently upraided—and, some say, threatened—him for alleged unfaithfulness.

According to attendants at the hospital, all that Mrs. Leonard said while she was being quizzed at the time of the arrest was:

"When did I come here? How am I ever going to get home? Does Allen know where I am? The expense will be terrible! I don't know as he'll want to pay it."

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Brown of Main street, Wallingford, declare that Mrs. Leonard not only made no attempt to conceal her jealousy of the sheriff, and more than once threatened to "get" him.

Brown is one of the road or highway policemen in the employ of the State of Vermont and had known Leonard, he says, about seventeen years. Frequently they were away from home together on a case. Leonard, according to Brown, was especially active in the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

ANDERSON SAYS HE'S VICTIM OF RELIGIOUS PLOT

Blames Anti-Protestant for Plight as He Faces Trial in Theft and Forgery

New York, Jan. 21.—Still declaring himself a victim of "a wet, anti-Protestant plot," William H. Anderson, superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League, went to trial today on the first of a series of indictments charging that he obtained $24,000 of the league funds by larceny, extortion and forgery.

The specific charges are based on indictments returned July 21, 1923, aleging Anderson committed forgery by altering the league's books to cover split commissions. O. N. Phillips, one of the solicitors of league funds, accused Anderson of forcing him to divide his commissions and covering the transactions by false receipts.

W. H. Anderson.

Ferdinand Pecora, assistant district attorney, directed the prosecution and Anderson was represented by former Governor Charles S. Whitman. Anderson was smiling and expressed confidence as he sat in the courtroom of Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, selected by the district attorney's office because he is a Republican and a Protestant, to offset Anderson's charges of a "Tammany anti-Protestant plot."

The forgery charge carries an indeterminate sentence of from two and a half to five years.

When examination of the one hundred talesmen got under way Whitman challenged all with affiliations that Anderson had charged were in the plot to ruin him and destroy prohibition.

Whitman sought to find out if the talesmen were Catholics, Tammany Hall supporters, anti-prohibitionists, anti-Ku Klux Klan or supporters of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., as Republican candidate for Governor of New York. Anderson had accused Roosevelt of being a "wet Republican."

BOK DEFIES PROBERS IN SENATE

Refuses Flatly to Reveal How Much He Spent Promoting Peace Plan

Washington, Jan. 21. (A.P.)—Edward W. Bok, promoter of the widely heralded $100,000 peace plan, flatly and repeatedly refused today to reveal to a Senatorial committee the amount of money he spent in promotion of the undertaking.

It was his own business, he said, and not the public's, nor the government's.

Bok's refusal to answer questions of this sort featured the opening of the Senate's investigation of his plan, which its enemies charge is "propaganda" designed to lead the United States into the League of Nations.

Crowds of women stormed the doors when the investigation opened.

The inquiry was opened with a statement from Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, the committee chairman, that the committee would not discuss the merits of any subject brought into the investigation but wold merely seek to learn "the sources of propaganda issued to influence American public opinion or to control legislation.

PICKED BY WOMEN.

Bok created a mild sensation when he declared Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee in 1920, and Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, wife of the New York banker—whose husbands are both League of Nations advocates—helped to select the "policy committee" which controlled the Bok award.

He said he "kept hands off" after Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Vanderlip became associated with the contest.

"When did the idea of a peace award first originate?" Chairman Moses inquired.

"In 1922," Bok replied.

U. S. RUM RUNNING IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

London, Jan. 21.—In the House of Commons today J. W. Muir, Labor member for Glasgow, asked the under secretary for foreign affairs, Ronald McNeill, if he was aware that circular letters had ben sent out by Lieut.-Col. Sir Broderick Hartwell inviting contributions for the purpose of smuggling alcohol into the United States. Mr. Muir also wanted to know what steps the government proposed to take "tos top the violation of the laws of a friendly state."

Mr. McNeill said the matter would be investigated. He hoped the pending treaty between the United States and Great Britain would go a long way toward cutting off such practices.

BOY AND GIRL SAVED WHEN ICE BREAKS

Derry, N. H., Jan. 21.—Two children narrowly escaped drowning in Howes Pond here when Lucy A. Henderson, fourteen years old, went to the aid of Allan S. Blaisdell, nine years old, who had broken through the ice on which he was skating.

Byron S. Aiken who was passing with Vincent S. Cassidy, succeeded in grasping the boy as he was going under the ice in about twenty feet of water. He put him on his shoulder and held him there in the water until firemen came with ladders and rescued the pair.

Cassidy saved the girl in the meantime.

THREATENS OLD WOMAN WITH GUN

Bobbed-Hair Girl Robs Store of $135 and Leaves Mocking Note for "Bulls"

New York, Jan. 21 (Universal).—The elusive bobbed hair girl bandit was on the job in Brooklyn, again executing a store hold-up with the business-like precision and daring which have marked her earlier calls.

She entered the drug store of Benjamin Jostey, No. 311 New York avenue, cowed him and his mother with her pistol and slangy threats, procured $135, left a mocking note of challenge to the police and escaped.

As Jostey handed the girl a box of talcum powder which she asked for she thrust the gun into his back with the order to "hurry and get 'em up."

THREATENS MOTHER.

She backed him into the rear of the store, where his mother, aged 65, was sitting. The mother made a start for the girl, who waved her gun menacingly. Jostey cried:

"For God's sake, don't shoot her! Take what you want and go. Please."

The girl snapped:

"We know what we want and we'll take it. Another peep out of either of you and you'll stop gassin' forever."

With this she signaled for her male companion to enter. He took the money from the cash register and retreated to a waiting automobile. The girl, ordering Jostey to remain below the partition, began to back out of the store. Jostey ventured to raise his head and was threatened:

SLANGY TALK.

"Raise that dome just a couple of inches more and I'll put a hunk of lead in it—right where you're brains ought to be!"

As the girl dropped a note at the end of the counter she said: "Say, this thing's for the bulls. Just tell 'em I left it with my complements."

The girl's latest appearance was said to have weakened the cases against Helen Quigley and Vincent ("Apples") Kovalski, both of Brooklyn. Helen was arrested January 14 or suspicion of being the "bobbed haired terrorist."

Church delegations of Greater Boston have made reservations for the remaining days of the religious revival now being held at Tremont Temple by the Rev. J. C. Massee. The first week saw a total attendance of 23,000 and over 175 were recorded as "trail hitters." Meetings will be held every day at 11:30 a. m. and every evening at 7 p. m., preceded by organ recitals and musical programs by the Moody Bible Institute Quartet from Chicago.

LATE BALLOTS ALTER YALE VOTE TO DRY

New Haven, Jan. 21.—Faculty ballots received since Saturday in the Yale News referendum on the eighteenth amendment turned the scales for law enforcement by three votes whereas the vote on Saturday was declared to have been a margin of three for modification. LEAVES HUSBAND AND SIX CHILDREN

MR. AND MRS. HENRY McNELLY AND FAMILY

Mrs. McNelly left home in a huff Friday night and her six children are disconsolate. Her husband has appealed to the Somerville police to help him find her. In the above picture Mrs. McNelly is at the top while below are (top row) Edna 2, William 14, Edward 13 and the father; bottom row, Mildred 11, Warren5 and Eugene 8.

CRY FOR MOTHER WHO LEFT HOME IN A HUFF

Henry McNelly Says His Children Refuse to Eat Since His Wife Went Away

Six tear-stained little faces and a chastened husband with open arms are waiting at No. 43 Mt. Pleasant street, East Somerville, to welcome Mrs. Mary E. McNelly, aged thirty-seven, back to the home that she left in a huff Friday night.

Henry McNelly, the husband, asked the police to help him find his wife. He has plenty of food in the house, he said, but his six kiddies refuse to eat it, and cry all day long for their mother.

Asks $500,000 to Save 9,000 Children

Is a child's life worth $55.55?

Dr. Eugene R. Kelley, commissioner of public health of Massachusetts, thinks it is.

He has asked the State Legislature for an appropriation of $50,000 to be spent over a period of ten years, to save the 9,000 youngsters attending the schools of Massachusetts who are suffering from tuberculosis.

The program for elimination of tuberculosis in the schools has been worked out after a detailed survey of the situation.

Dr. Kelley estimates that 200,000 school children in Massachusetts between the ages of five and twelve can be examined and these examinations conducted over a period of ten years. Of this number between 8,500 and 9,000 are estimated to be suffering from tuberculosis of the glands. At the end of ten years the schools will be free of tuberculosis and the children, when they grow up, will not become victims of the white plague.

In the gland stage the disease may readily be overcome, according to the commissioner. His project has been indorsed by Governor Cox and other high State officials. It has been worked out largely as a result of the tests conducted by Dr. Henry B. Chadwick, head of the Westfield State Sanatorium.

Pastor is Insured by Church for $100,000

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Trustees of the Baptist Temple think so much of their pastor, the Rev. Clinton Winder, that they have taken out a life insurance policy for $100,000, which is to be paid out of the building fund. This is needed, the trustees feel, because everything depends upon the health of their pastor in successfully building a combined church and office building.

BAVARIANS ARE OPPOSED TO AUTONOMY

British Consul at Munich Reports Overwhelming Majority Against It

London, Jan. 21 (A.P.).—An overwhelming majority of the population of the Bavarian palatinate is opposed to the so-called autonomous government, in the opinion of Robert Clive, British consul general at Munich, after five days' investigation, the House of Commons was told today by Robert McNeill, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

London, Jan. 21 (I.N.S.).—Great Britain today requested France to explain why the British zone of military occupation at Cologne has been blockaded by the French. It is understood the French action was in the nature of a reprisal due to the refusal of the British to permit the French to use railroads crossing the British occupational area.

London, Jan. 21.—Word that the Franco-Belgian railroad administration had orders prohibiting traffic between the British and other allied zones in the Rhineland was received here with astonishment. The action is said to be tantamount to a blockage of the Cologne area, and there is resentful comment in some quarters, which say that if the order is made effective a serious situation among the allies will come about.

These critics interpret the reported order as designed to frighten away the British from Cologne, thus removing the last obstacle to the establishment of an autonomous Rhineland.

Supreme Court Recess

Washington, Jan. 21.—The United States Supreme Court will recess from January 28 to February 18, Chief Justice Taft announced today.

3 GIRLS TAKE POISON; ONE MAY DIE

Two In Love Quarrels With Sweethearts "Make Up" After Attempts

Finding themselves in situations where to them life no longer seemed worth living, three Boston girls attempted to end their lives by poison.

In full view of scores of passersby and before the horrified gaze of the sweetheart with whom she had just quarreled, Miss Mary Perkins, twenty-one years old, of No. 246 East Eighth street, South Boston, drank the contents of a vial of iodine and collapsed at Broadway and E street, South Boston.

The girl fell at the feet of her sweetheart, Joseph Coleman, twenty-two years old, who lives in the same house as the girl. Coleman and others picked the girl up and carried her to the office of Dr. John P. Jones, only a block away.

BECOMES RECONCILED.

There the girl was given an antidote and was removed to her home, little the worse for her experience physically. The affair brought about the desired effect. Coleman, witnessing the extent of the girl's love for him, relented and a reconciliation ensued.

Evelyn Long, twenty-one years old, No. 32 Montgomery street, South End, is on the danger list at the City Hospital, following the swallowing of several bichloride of mercury tablets with suicidal intent.

WOMAN WELL KNOWN

According to the police, the girl had had a quarrel with her sweetheart, who had visited her early in the evening. Soon after his departure she swallowed the poison.

The sweetheart, who refused to divulge his name, called at the hospital and the couple were reconciled to each other. Hospital authorities are not certain the girl will live.

A girl who said she was Mrs. Marie LaMarr, twenty-three years old, of Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn, but whom the police say is a Roxbury girl, drank iodine in a rooming house at No. 609 Massachusetts avenue.

According to Najal Solomon, proprietor of the rooming house, the woman came without hand baggage and applied for a room, paying a deposit. About ten minutes after she had gone to her room, groans were heard coming from her room. The police were called and the door broken in.

The woman was found on her bed with a bottle beside her that had contained iodine. She refused to say why she had attempted suicide. City Hospital physicians said she will recover.

$68.37 for Every Man, Woman and Child in 1922 Taxes

Washington, Jan. 21.—An average of $68.37 for every man, woman and child in the United States was collected in taxes in 1922. The total was $7,433,081,000. The Federal total in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, was $3,204,133,000, or almost five times the amount in 1912. The government tax was $29.47 per capita.

Taxes collected by other civil divisions totaled $4,228,848,000, or an average of $38.90.

States collected $867,468,000, an increase of 183 per cent. over 1912; counties, $742,331,000, increase 141 per cent.; cities and other incorporated places, $1,627,339,000, increase 80 per cent.; townships, $151,318,000; school districts, $738,433,000, and all others, $102,069,000.

ORDERED TO DRIVE FANATICS TO HOMES

Manila, Jan. 21 (A.P.).—An additional company of constabulary was sent today from Zamboanga to Surigao province on the Island of Mindanao to assist the force of Colonel Bowers, constabulary commander of Surigao, to disperse religious fanatics who refuse to leave Bucas Island. Governor-General Wood has directed Colonel Bowers to use force unless the fanatics return home within two days. Nineteen constabulary soldiers and eighty fanatics, members of the religious society of Colorum, have been killed in recent clashes

RUSSIA CLOSES $5,000,000 COTTON DEAL

May Buy $100,000,000 Worth in the U. S., and Textile Machinery Besides

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Washington, Jan. 21 (C.N.S.)—Russia has just completed a deal to buy $5,000,000 worth of cotton in this country.

This is the first of a series of trades which may lead to the buying of $100,000,00 of that one staple here this year. Purchases of large quantities of textile machinery are also being arranged.

He is the boss of 300,000 workers.

Nogin has already bought 200,000 bales of cotton direct from the planters. He avoided America's middlemen. He purchased from the Cooperative Cotton Asociation and the State Warehouse Associations of the South.

He is rumored to have thus effected a saving for both the planters and his own government. Any profits remaining in the co-operatives of the South at the end of the business year are divided among the cotton growers.

Senator Dial says that because of the "silly" attitude of this government, a large amount of profit on these transactions has gone out of the country.

LEA & PERRINS' SAUCE makes HAMBURGER STEAK taste better

Mr. Jones kicks over the traces

"MARTHA, there's something the matter with this tea," complained Arnold Jones. "Look here, here's a recipe an Englishwoman gave me the last time I was over. The English all make it this way. I never tasted anything so good."

"Well, it would be easy enough to make, this way," said Mrs. Jones, as she read the recipe. "We'll have some to-night."

The sequel to this story is simply that Mrs. Jones discovered she had never really tasted tea. The recipe her husband gave her was the one printed here. Unless you use it you do not know the real tea flavor, nor how refreshing it can be.

Let Tetley Help

All tea is not alike. Your enjoyment of tea depends upon what brand you buy—upon the packer's ability to secure the finest crops, upon the skill and accuracy with which these teas are blended. Because Tetley's ability to do these things is unequaled, Tetley's Orange Pekoe Tea is the choice of discriminating tea-drinkers the world over.

The right way to make tea.

Pour freshly boiled, bubbling water on the tea-leaves.

Steep for five or six minutes.

Always serve with milk or cream.

One pound of Tetley's Tea makes 300 cups.

Heavy cream French Filet scarfs that formerly sold at $3.00, now at $1.75. This scarf (18x36) has a firm, well-made edge and hand-tied fringe. There are four longer scarfs in the same width; the 72-inch one is now $4.50. Each one is a keen value.

Other Fine Filet Pieces Reduced

In quality and design these ecru French Filet scarfs of pure linen suggest higher priced merchandise. The 18 by 36 size is now only $7.00. These range in length to 84 inches ($15)—the much wanted scarfs for the new long tables.

Unusual Values in Two-Toned Filet

Nothing is newer or more striking than these French Filet scarfs designed in cream and ecru. Even the fringe carries out the plan of two colors—and the combination is lovely. These 18-inch scarfs come in five lengths; the 45-inch (at $7.50) to the 84-inch (at $18). The latter are much desired, but there is one way to be sure of one—

Many Striking Gowns Feature Senior Supper Dance, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

SIMPLICITY can achieve much—especially in a sartorial way.

Take, for instance, the gown which dark-haired Hope Gaston wore to the senior supper dance the other evening. It was a closely-fitting affair of old rose crepe, entirely devoid of any adornment, yet it was easily one of the most distinctive gowns in the ballroom.

For some clever designer had fashioned the back of the dress into a long narrow butterfly bow extending from shoulders to hem.

It was a woven affair of grass green and gold, with figures of orange interwoven. There was really no hemline, as the end of the long skirt was swung over the shoulders, making quite an unusual effect. There are not many who could have "gotten away" with such an unusually designed dress, but "get away" with it Mrs. Whitman did.

Mrs. H. H. Faxon

Of flesh-colored satin was the frock worn by Mrs. Henry H. Faxon (Edith Bremer), and most becoming to the wearer's blonde beauty. Embroidered motifs of pale rose and blue were used as rimmings.

Another to strike a slightly unusual note that evening was Mrs. David Sears, 2nd (Nell White), who, like Mrs. Faxon, was one of June's important brides. Her frock was of jade crepe, with picturesque Chinese scenes embroidered in white lending an Oriental touch. An odd ivory comb and shawl of white completed the costume.

Mrs. A. L. Richmond

SLENDER Mrs. Arthur L. Richmond, who has lost none of the charm of her Jessie Meane days, selected a very simple but smart looking gown of black brocaded velvet.

A distinctly youthful figure was Mrs. "Reggy" Foster (France Hoar), whose red gold hair and vivacious ways seem to make her the center of attraction wherever she goes. Her frock was of white satin, in the tiered style, with a long bow of white satin lined with black velvet at the side.

Others at the Copley-Plaza for the second senior supper dance included Miss Suzette Sturgis in salmon velvet, Mrs. Herbert B. Shaw in jade crepe, Mrs. Ronald Lyman in white crepe embroidered with silver threads, and Mrs. Marshall Fabyan in white crepe.

Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr.'s brunette coloring was set off most effectively by her gown of cerise velvet, with its jaunty little cape of gold lace at back.

February 14th has been selected for the night of the Aviation Ball to be held at the Copley-Plaza under the sponsorship of Mesdames G. Richmond Fearing, George S. Mandell, William A. Gaston and Russell S. Codman, all of whom had sons serving in the aviation service during the war.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Thayer of Lancaster are spending the mid-winter at the Charles Hellier house.

THREE RESCUED AT FIRE IN BACK BAY

Two Women Carried Down Fire Escape From Sixth Floor; Loss $7,500

Two women and a man were rescued from the sixth floor of a burning brick block at No. 220 Clarendon street, Back Bay, today, by Patrolman Spear of Back Bay station and Driver Thomas McLaughlin, chauffeur for Deputy Chief Fox.

H. F. Clough, an executive of the New Haven railroad, his wife, who is a scientist, and her mother, Mrs. H. E. Sherman, were the only occupants of the building, the other tenants being away. The two women were carried down the fire-escape and Mr. Clough was led down. They were asleep when awakened by firemen.

The fire, starting in the basement from an overheated furnace, it is believed, worked up the elevator shaft and staircase to the top of the house. Damage $7500.

Mead Asks Blame of Twentieth Century Crash to Be Placed Where It Belongs

Washington, Jan. 21.—Further investigation of the wreck of the New York Central flyer "Twentieth Century Limited," near Forsythe, N. Y., on December 9, in order to "place the blame where it properly belongs," was urged upon the Interstate Commerce Commission today by Representative James Mead of New York.

In a letter to the commission asking it to give the matter further consideration, Representative Mead said, "The placing of the entire responsibility on the engineer, thereby is an injustice to Mr. Patterson (the engineer).

"From the evidence submitted," said Mead, "it can be easily seen that the railroad officials are entirely to blame for, first, non-enforcement of a rule compelling trains either to come to a stop or to reduce speed to a specific rate at caution blocks and, secondly, for the discipline meted out to the engineers on fast trains for failure to make time and keep up in that way the unreasonable speed mania which is directly responsible for many accidents on our railroads."

"Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Boston for week ending Saturday, Jan. 19th, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8.00 cents to 17.50 cents per pound and averaged 13.99 cents per pound."—Advt.

ALL THAT'S GILT DOESN'T GLITTER

CONVENIENT TO THE THEATRE AND shopping district is a room of gold. Lovely yellow decorations, gilt chairs. Music by the orchestra that plays for Hundred Club dances. Dinner, $1.75 to $2.00. You can also dance at tea time. 75 cents to $1.25, or a la carte.

CLOSE TO THE COMMON you open an iron grill and behold the most charming bit—a pretty room with a few tables, beautifully set. Venetian glass, Brittany china, fine linen. Luncheon, $1.00. Dinner by appointment, $2.00. Exclusive.

ALSO IN THE THEATRE DISTRICT we found a tea-room of quaint name. Italian or American food. Dinner at noon or night, $1.25. A gift shop in conjunction. Beautiful imported china, tapestry and bric-a-brac. Prices unusually low.

JUST FOR TEA OR lunch go to an attractive little place at the foot of Beacon Hill. Tea with toasted sandwich, or cinnamon toast, or sandwich and cake—35 to 50 cents. Special lunch—cream soup or toasted sandwich, with salad, tea or coffee, 50 cents. Artistically decorated. One part of the room is devoted to imported gifts.

INVENTED ESPECIALLY FOR Americans is a delicious dish—it tastes best in a place we know, all black and gold and red. A big Buddha assures quiet and mystery. Luncheon (as elaborate as dinner) $1.00 and $1.50. Waitresses in Chinese mandarin suits—beautiful Oriental china—soft lights—faint perfumes. Like an old Chinese temple garden.

Answer to D. W. G.—Yes, it's good form to wear a head band, instead of a hat, to dinner before the theatre. It's not necessary to wear gloves.

Answer to E. B.—Information of the kind your question calls for can only be given confidentially. Sorry. Send me your name and address and I'll write to you promptly.

HEALTH TESTS FOR BABIES BIG SUCCESS

Three hundred and ninety-six babies were examined and given scores at the health tests held in the Jordan Marsh Company Annex under the auspices of the State Department of Public Health and the Boston American.

All of the babies had been entered in the Boston Health Show a couple of months ago, but could not be examined at that time because of the large number of babies entered and the limited facilities.

Alice Gallimore

Each afternoon for the past two weeks more than forty babies were examined. The examining corps consisted of five experienced physicians, a dental hygienist, two statisticians, ten nurses, four aides and an admitting clerk.

MUCH ACCOMPLISHED.

The State Department of Public Health feels that much was accomplished in interesting mothers in the health of their children, and in actual instruction in infant feeding.

Defects were discovered in some of the babies during the examinations. These babies have been referred to their own physicians who will correct the defects before great harm is done.

Of the 396 entries, 195 were boys and 201 girls. Fourteen girls scored 100 per cent., as compared with four boys. Thirty-seven girls scored 99 per cent., as compared with nineteen boys; 90 to 99 per cent., 158 boys, 138 girls; 80 to 90 per cent., fourteen boys, twelve girls.

99.5 PER CENT. BABY.

Alice Gallimore, one-year-old, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gallimore, of No. 594 Putnam avenue, Cambridge, was one of the few babies to be graded 99.5 per cent. in the health tests. Her father is a disabled World War veteran now at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington where he has been undergoing treatment for a nervous disorder for some time.

WETS BEGIN MARCH ON WASHINGTON FOR ATTACK ON DRY LAW

'FACE THE FACTS' DELEGATES TO CALL ON COOLIDGE

Washington, Jan. 21.—Treading on the heels of the Anti-Saloon League's meeting in time, and on its toes in spirit, the "face the facts" conference, sponsored by the association against the prohibition amendment, got under way here today with speakers hurling verbal volleys at the Volstead act and the league.

The delegates also had an engagement with President Coolidge at noon, similar to the call made by the Anti-Saloon League convention.

"Double enforcement of the eighteenth amendment by the State and Federal courts constitutes 'intolerable persecution' and has been so characterized by judges on the bench," declared Austen G. Fox, president of the Moderation League of New York. "The Legislature of the State of New York saw it and 1923 removed the cause by repealing its enforcement act.

"The Anti-Saloon League's determination is not merely to enforce the Volstead law," Mr. Fox asserted "but to decry every great principle that stands in the way of tyrannical procedure—and tyrannical procedure begets revolt.

"Which shall it be—amendment or revolt?" he asked, declaring: "We stand for prompt amendment."

Representative Hill, Republican, Maryland, has been named toastmaster at the association's banquet tonight, at which Senators Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, and Bayard, Democrat, Delaware, are listed among the speakers.

REMOVE TACK FROM LUNG OF BABY

Philadelphia, Jan. 21 (Universal).—A steel tack a quarter of an inch long was removed successfully from the lung of eight-months-old Cletus Moore of St. Louis in the University Hospital.

The operation was completed in 4½ minutes. The baby took no anesthetic and fell asleep immediately afterwards.

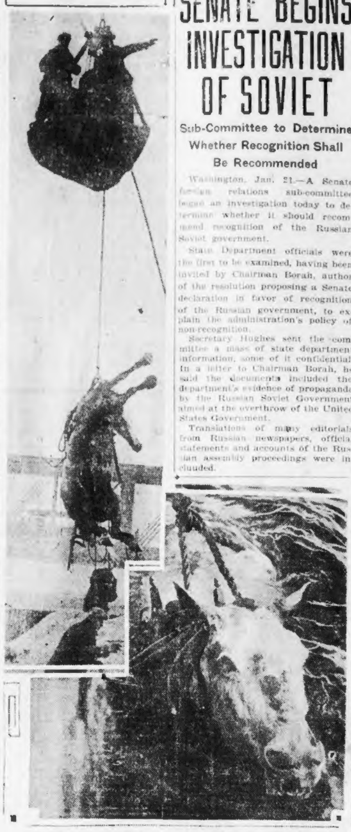
Hoisted to Safety



Upper view shows the horse in a sling attached to the bucket of a harbor dredge being hoisted out of the water. Lower picture, the horse after Sergeant Carlson stopped his journey to the open sea by roping him.

A blind horse, hitched to a Merchants Transportation Company wagon, wandered off the edge of the New England Dock at Northern avenue bridge, South Boston, today and gave Sergeant Charles Carlson and the crew of the police boat Watchman a busy hour effecting a rescue.

The horse cleared the traces of his harness and left the wagon floating in the harbor. Then he headed for the open sea. The Watchman gave chase.

Sergeant Carlson finally got a rope around the horse's neck and the animal was towed to a Boston Sand and Gravel Company dredge where a sling was brought into play and the exhausted horse lifted to safety.

Barring complication which may arise from his immersion in the icy water, the horse is none the worse for the experience.

SENATE BEGINS INVESTIGATION OF SOVIET

Sub-Committee to Determine Whether Recognition Shall Be Recommended

Washington, Jan. 21.—A Senate foreign relations sub-committee began an investigation today to determine whether it should recommend recognition of the Russian Soviet government.

State Department officials were the first to be examined, having been invited by Chairman Borah, author of the resolution proposing a Senate declaration in favor of recognition of the Russian government, to explain the administration's policy of non-recognition.

Secretary Hughes sent the committee a mass of state department information, some of it confidential. In a letter to Chairman Borah, he said the documents included the department's evidence of propaganda by the Russian Soviet Government aimed at the overthrow of the United States Government.

Translations of many editorials from Russian newspapers, official statements and accounts of the Russian assembly proceedings were included.

The cold wave hit Boston, as it did the Middle West and Atlantic seaboard, and sent the mercury in this section of New England tumbling. At 7 o'clock today it was 14 above. Greenville, Me., is the coldest place in New England today, with the thermometer at zero.

According to the weather man, Boston and vicinity will be colder tonight and tomorrow, with the temperature dropping until it gets as low as 5 degrees above zero.

The temperature will begin rising tomorrow night and the cold snap should be broken by Wednesday morning.

Olean, N. Y., experienced the coldest day of the Winter when the temperature dropped to 12 below, accompanied by fine, dry snow.

The Niagara district experienced the coldest weather of the year last night and today. At Prospect Point, near the American Falls, the temperature was 10 below zero at 8 o'clock today. Ten blocks east of the point the mercury stood at 14 below at the same hour.

Southern Canada was warmer than the States below the Great Lakes. Winnipeg's 10 below was equalled at Indianapolis and other points in Indiana and exceeded at one, Fort Wayne, which had 12 below. Two are dead in Chicago in the third zero wave of Winter.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

The fire caused slight damage.

COURT SETS MILEAGE BOOK ORDER ASIDE

Washington, Jan. 21.—The order of the Interstate Comemrce Commission requiring railroads to issue interchangeable mileage tickets under the act of 1922 was set aside by the Supreme Court today in a case brought by the government against the railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

DISPUTED BOUT REFEREE IS SHOT DOWN

Davey Miller, Who Gave Decision to Benny Leonard Last May, Attacked

Chicago, Jan. 21.—"Davey" Miller, restaurateur and wrestling and boxing referee, was shot and probably fatally wounded as he left a theatre with his three brothers, one of whom, Max, was slightly wounded.

Their assailant, who was not identified, escaped as the theatre crowd milled about the men as they lay on the sidewalk. "Davey" Miller was rushed to a hospital and an operation was ordered immediately. He was shot in the abdomen.

"Well, they got the referee," exclaimed Max Miller at the hospital to which he was taken with a bullet wound in his side.

"Davey" refereed the Benny Leonard-Pinkey Mitchell contest at Dexter Pavilion here last May 30, giving the decision to Leonard near the end of the bout when he knocked Mitchell down, the decision precipitating a riot which sounded the death knell of Chicago boxing.

Detectives believe the shooting was traceable to the Leonard-Mitchell fight.

As Miller carried Pinkie Mitchell to his corner after he had declared Leonard the winner, Richie Mitchell, brother of the Milwaukee fighter and himself a lightweight of note, struck the referee, and the ring immediately was filled with fighting groups of men. A score or more fights broke out over the hall.

It was the contention of the Milwaukee boxers and their supporters that Leonard had fouled Mitchell by striking while Mitchell still was on one knee.

That is Film

That dingy coat which hides the beauty of your teeth

Look about you. Note the pearly teeth you see in every circle now. Mark what they add to beauty and to charm. Then let this pleasant test reveal how multitudes now get them.

A dainty habit

Film is that viscous coat you feel. Much of it clings and stays when you brush teeth in the old-time ways. It becomes discolored more or less, then forms dingy coats. That is how teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That is why tooth troubles are so common.

Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. And that is alarmingly common.

Now dental science has found ways to combat film. One acts to disintegrate the film at all stages of formation. One to remove it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists the world over then began to urge its use. Now careful people of some 50 nations employ it. And every day new thousands start this dainty habit.

A new crusade

There is now a world-wide crusade for better tooth protection. And Pepsodent is a leading factor in it.

It does more than fight film. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva—the neutralizer of mouth acids. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.

Every use of Pepsodent gives manifold power to these great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth. It is bringing to people of all races a new dental era.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

New beauty comes, and quickly

The benefits of Pepsodent are quick and apparent. You see and feel them from the start. When you once know them you will never return to methods of the past.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

The test will be a revelation. It will bring to you and yours a new idea of what clean teeth mean. Cut out coupon now.

TODAY'S BIG NEWS

Now 12¢

That favorite pocket tin of fresh Tuxedo tobacco which has cost you fifteen cents or more for the last five years, is yours for just twelve (12) cents from now on!

Just two things have made it possible for us to give you this 20% reduction on Tuxedo:

1. A reduction in the cost of Kentucky Burley tobacco and in package materials, as well.
2. The consolidation of three of our big plants into one. (Mr. Ford may not be in the tobacco business but he is right about consolidation.)

This gives us a chance to pass an advantage along to all our friends; to share a good thing.

We haven't lost any time in taking advantage of this opportunity.

You know that it is the desire and policy of The American Tobacco Co. to extend to its customers the maximum of service.

Reducing the price of a great favorite like Tuxedo—the moment it's possible—is our idea of delivering this service.

So now you're getting the familiar tin of Tuxedo tobacco at 12 cents instead of 15 cents.

Tuxedo is always FRESH. Every package is—

ATHLETIC STARS IN BIG "CASEY" GAMES ON THE WEEK-END

ELEVEN RELAY RACES ON EXTENSIVE PROGRAM

The annual Knights of Columbus track meet in Mechanics Building Saturday night promises to be the most successful ever staged by that fraternal organization.

Joie Ray

National talent will be on hand in abundance. There'll be a galaxy of stars who expect to earn places on the American Olympic team that will compete at Paris next Summer.

A varied program is offered with relay races between the various colleges entered. Harvard, Boston College, Technology, Georgetown, Holy Cross, Brown, Tufts, Boston A. A. and Newark A. C. are only a few of the organizations that have made entries in the numerous events.

The star competitor will be Joie Ray. He will run the "Casey mile," the chief feature of the meet.

Lloyd Hahn, of the B. A. A., and Pat Mahoney, who gained a leg on the famous trophy a short time ago will try to beat the flyer.

Joie has one leg on the trophy and says he'll have another.

The Catholic College relay competition should be a thriller. Holy Cross and Boston College will fight to keep the Cardinal O'Connell trophy in competition for another year by beating Georgetown. Georgetown already has won two legs on the cup, and a victory on Saturday will give permanent possession.

The following program of team races has been arranged:

B. A. A. vs. Newark A. C.
Brown vs. Tech.
Harvard vs. Maine
Boston University vs Aggies.
Tufts vs. Northeastern.
Boston College Freshmen vs. Holy Cross Freshmen.
Harvard Freshmen vs. Tech Freshmen.
Georgetown, Boston College, Holy Cross (Triangular).
New York Chapter vs. Boston Chapter.
English High vs. Boston Latin.
Newton High vs. Brookline High.

In the open events Loren Murchison, of Newark A. C., the national sprint champion will compete in the 40-yard dash and Carl Christiernsson, of the Newark A. C., in the hurdles. Christiernsson will hurdle against Paulson, J. P. Sullivan and Bob Merrick.

Great interest will be shown in the two mile race for Robert E. Brown of the B. A. A., former Cornell Intercollegiate champion, will match strides with Marvin Ricks, former Princeton flyer. It should be a great race.

Loren Murchison

The shotputters of distinction on hand are: Charlie Eastman, of Harvard; Ralph G. Hills Princeton, who hurled 49 feet in the stadium last year; Orville Wanzer, national champion; and John C. Lawlor.

Leroy Brown, formerly of Dartmouth, now a student at the Colorado School of Mines, will be the cynosure of all eyes when he comes up for the high jump. Brown, is the holder of the world's indoor record, also intercollegiate and national champion.

Claren Flahive of Boston College has sailed over the bar at 6 feet, 2 inches, but Brown, who has reached 6 feet, 5½ inches undoubtedly will grab the honors.

BROOKLYN DEFEATS NEWARK AT SOCCER

Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Newark Soccer eleven, Eastern semi-finalists in the National soccer championship series, fell before the Brooklyn Wanderers, 4 to 2, in the third round of the American cup competition.

The team's display does not hold out a strong indication to beat Bethlehem Steel next Saturday, at Philadelphia in the big classic.

However, two bad miss-kicks by Neil, left fullback for Newark, went bad. Both instances resulted in goals for the winners. Newark picked up in the second half and held the home team down to one goal and came near scoring more than the once recorded during this period.

The lineup:

Brooklyn—Goal, Surgener; backs, Robertson and Hunt; half backs, Calderwood, Forrest and Nichol; forwards, Hogg, Congrove, Doherty, Curtis and McKay.

Newark—Goal, Douglas; backs, Fletcher and Neil; half backs, Murray, Stephen and Kirby; forwards, McArthur, Lauther, Hentingley, Green and Bliech.

Referee—T. Cunningham. Attendance—2,000.

FALL RIVER BEATS J & P. COATES, 3-2

Fall River, Jan. 21.—Fall River out-played and outclassed J. and P. Coats in a 3 to 2 American League soccer game before 4,500 fans.

LAWRENCE HAS TWO DAYS OF ICE RACING

By GUS DALY

Strange as it may seem, "Old Jack Frost" would receive a right royal welcome in these parts at the present time, especially by the light harness racing fans of the Bay State, and from lovers of this line of Winter sport in general.

From now on through February there will be many engagements for the trotters and pacers for fair sized purses, if the mercury will take a tumble and remain long enough around the "Zero" hour for the ponds and lakes to freeze.

Gus Daly

Lawrence has taken the initiative, and on Friday and Saturday will stage a program which reflects credit on the business men and the racing fans of that city.

It has offered a purse of $1,000 for a free-for-all pace; $500 for a junior free-for-all; $300 for a free-for-all trot, and fair sums for the winners of the 2:20 trot, the 2:20 pace and a consolation event for non-winners.

Not for years have such amounts been offered for Winter racing in New England. Some of the best which whirled around on the Short Ship last Summer will compete and earn their Winter oats.

The pond at Methuen, about four miles from Lawrence, will be the scene of action, provided of course, "Old Jack Frost" is reasonable the next few days.

Al Standis will be starting judge, while Charles B. Stickney presides. They officiated throughout the Bay State circuit last season.

All the events are best three in five and are all quarter mile heats. The $1,000 free-for-all pace has a half dozen of the fastest pacers in New England entered and the junior is not far behind in quality and speed.

Friday's card will embrace the junior free-for-all, the 2:20 pace and named race, while on Saturday will be staged the $1,000 free-for-all all pace, the free-for-all trot and the 2:20 trot.

The races and entries on Friday are:

JUNIOR FREE FOR ALL, $500.

TWO CHAMPIONS ENTER B. A. A. GAMES

Two more national champions have sent in their entries for the B. A. A. meet February 2 to Manager Tom Kanaly. R. L. Johnson of Pittsburgh, A. A. U. five-mile champion, and E. E. "Laddie" Myers, former Dartmouth pole vaulter, A. A. U. champion and holder of the world's indoor record, are listed.

Jim Henigan

Johnson will run in the Gardner B. Williams three-mile run. He has one leg on the cup. Three victories for one club place it in permanent possession.

He will have a hard race to obtain his second leg, however, for the event already has a speedy list of prospective starters.

Among them are Bob Dalrymple of Dartmouth; Bob Brown, formerly of Cornell and B. A. A. runner, who now is a student at Tech; Paine of Colby, Me., cross-country champion; the reliable Jim Henigan and Marvin Rick, former Princeton and New York A. C. performer.

Ed Knourek, former pole-vaulting champion, whom Myers defeated in last season's A. A. U. meet, will contest supremacy in his specialty with Myers. Knourek will wear the colors of the Illinois A. C. Such performers as Ken Libbey of Dartmouth, who has an outdoor mark of 12 feet 9 inches, and Frank Bishop of Bowdoin, New England champion, will compete also.

TIGER'S WRESTLING CAPTAIN INJURED

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 21.—Stock in Princeton's wrestling team sank with the announcement that Captain Harvey Emery will be unable to wrestle again this season.

Emery suffered an injury to his shoulder in a recent meet which has made it hazardous for him to wrestle again.

It is understood, however, that Emery will be in condition for track by the Spring. He will captain the track team and put the shot and throw the discus.

DUNDEE GIVEN OFFER OF $15,000 FOR BOUT

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 21.—An offer of $15,000 has been made to Jimmy Johnston, manager of Johnny Dundee, world's featherweight champion, for a 15-round title match here with Louis (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden, Ct., by Promoter Bennie Franklin of the Olympic Athletic Club. Kaplan's manager has agreed to terms for the bout, which would be staged May 28.

ZUNA STARTS WORK FOR OLYMPIC TEAM

New York, Jan. 21.—Frank Zuna of the Millrose A. A. began his training campaign for a berth on the Olympic marathon team with a victory in the 12-mile race conducted by the Glencoe A. C.

The race was the first of the weekly 12-mile jaunts which the Glencoes will conduct from now on. Zuna beat Harvey Frick, veteran marathoner of the home club. The winner's time was 1 hour, 4 minutes, 15 seconds.

MAPLES BILLED FOUR TIMES AT ARENA

The Maples, who established themselves Saturday night in their 75-minute 4 to 4 tie game with the Boston Hockey Club, are booked for four games at the Arena this week. Each is a tough game.

Jack Culhane

Not in years has a club team so startled the fans by their dashing and brilliant work. Everybody is talking about them. The team is loaded with color and TNT.

The Maples today form one of the most dangerous club teams in the country The speed of the players is amazing.

Ed Mullowney

The game will figure in the Winsor Cup series and the Maple players believe that they will win the trophy.

The Maples will play the B. A. A. on Wednesday. This game should be a sizzler. The B. A. A. team is playing championship hockey. Eddie Enright's return to the game gives Ag Smith's team a sure shot scorer.

The Maples will play Harvard on Thursday night.

Fans may expect to see sensational hockey when Boston College meets New Haven Friday night.

On Saturday there will be two United States League games. The B. A. A. meets Boston Hockey Club in one game and the Maples oppose New Haven.

TARAMASCHI IS CERTAIN HE CAN WIN

Strangler Lewis

Taramaschi always has contended that he can beat Joe Alvarez and after watching the battle the man from Panama gave Lewis last week is more than satisfied that he has a chance to beat Lewis.

Taramaschi is one of the strongest men in the wrestling game as he showed the public when he held the two Ford automobiles. He will be at a disadvantage of about fifteen pounds compared with the champion but he is fully as strong if not stronger.

He also knows the inside stuff on wrestling and Lewis will have a harder battle on his hands with the stubborn Italian than he did with Alvarez.

The match is to a positive finish, fans. Angelo asked for this.

Joe Alvarez is in town and is after a return bout with either Lewis or Stasiak. He is confident that he can beat either of them if given another chance. He will appear on the card in a one-fall contest with Alex Ben Ali, the Syrian Tiger.

In the opening bout Jack Albright, the man with the thousand holds, will meet Justiniano Silva, the Portugese champion. Silvia appeared here once last year against Cyclone Rees and won. He is a powerful fellow and is after some of the top notchers. He weighs 250 pounds.

DOG SHOW LIST SENT OUT TO EXHIBITORS

The largest and most bountiful premium list yet offered by the club has been mailed for the twelfth annual show of the Eastern Dog Club which will be held in Mechanics Building, February 21, 22 and 23. Many entries are already being received at the show offices, Room 209, No. 30 Huntington avenue.

The entries will close on January 31 with the extended entry date set for a few days later. George F. Foley, again superintendent of the show, will take charge of the office by January 28.

JACK O'HARA BUYS BRIDGEPORT CLUB

Bridgeport, Ct., Jan. 21.—Jack O'Hara of Springfield purchased the Bridgeport Eastern League baseball franchise with a syndicate of Springfield men from the American Chain Company.

Although the purchase price was not divulged it was rumored to be over $15,000.

O'Hara is a former Eastern League manager. He piloted the Lawrence club in 1916, Springfield in 1917 and 1918 and the pennant winning Pittsfield team in 1919.

He managed a semi-pro team composed of Holy Cross stars at Windsor Locks, Ct., last season. O'Hara will manage the club.

NEW YORK PLAYS A DRAW WITH QUAKERS

New York, Jan. 21.—New York and Philadelphia Soccer teams played a scoreless draw here today in the American Soccer League series. New York missed a penalty kick and a goal by the Phillies was disallowed.

My Favorite Punch

By HARRY GREB

Herewith is the first of a series of articles prepared especially for the Boston American, in which boxing champions describe their favorite punch and how to use it.

The best punch that I have used in my ring career is a leaping left hook. It differs somewhat from the ordinary hook, inasmuch as I usually aim in the air and travel with the punch when it hits.

Harry Greb.

It is that blow which won most of my fights for me, for the simple reason that a left hook, being hard for any fighter to avoid, becomes doubly so when I leap in with it.

Because it is most difficult to stop a left hook attack, all fighters keep on trying to develop as good a defence as is possible against it. Some of them succeed fairly well in stopping the ordinary left hook attack. But I have not yet met anyone who could stop my leaping left hook.

I figure that I can land it six or seven times in every ten attempts, and as I do that, I am scoring quite a few points, which means that if I don't knock out my opponent eventually I will gain the decision from the judges or the referee.

The left jab is a good punch to keep the other fellow back when he steps in for the purpose of taking a sock at you. A right cross is also a powerful weapon. But it is not quite so easy to land a right cross, so, having discovered that, I don't try very much to put it over.

Why should I spend time trying to hit a man with the right hand and land only three or four times in ten efforts when I can land perhaps six or seven times by the use of my leaping hook.

COACH MEANIX PICKS TUFTS RELAYERS

Tufts will run against Boston University in a relay race at the K. C. games. Coach Bill Meanix will use Fred Littlefield, Clarence Allen, M. Haines and Henry Jefres against the intown college.

Bill Meanix

At the Y. M. C. A. meet Saturday the Jumbo outfit was beaten by Northeastern because Fred Littlefield the leader drapped the baton.

Tufts would have won if Littlefield had held the stick. Littlefield, who as a former Somerville High track star, will atone for his error.

If Bart Macchia, one of the best men on the Tufts track team is available Meanix will start him in place of Allen. Macchia is a student at the dental school and he has not had enough time in practice.

Elwin Gamage, in the short distant events, will wear the Medford colors. Gamage will be entered in the 440 yard run also.

PIONEER A. C. HOLDS AMATEUR TOURNEY

The Pioneer A. A. of Lynn, will hold what promises to be one of the biggest amateur shows held in Lynn when they put on their big open meet consisting of four classes—112, 118, 126, 147—all open, at Casino Hall.

Under the new amateur rules, boxers who wish to enter must have their entries in by Wednesday, January 30, by 5 p. m. Louis Penney, No. 101 Church street, Lynn, has charge of the entries.

BRAVES OPEN SEASON AT THE QUAKER CITY

New York, Jan. 21.—Opening games in the National League race on April 15, will find the Braves at Philadelphia, Brooklyn at New York, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati and Chicago at St. Louis.

The schedule, which has been completed except for a few minor details, will have the season close on September 29. This is ten days earlier than the 1923 closing and one of the earliest on record for the full 154 games scheduled.

It was decided upon to afford more favorable World's Series weather, avoid conflict with college football games and because of the proximity of the Presidential election.

In New York, the Giants will play in Brooklyn. This will avoid conflict with the American League opening which will occur at the Yankee Stadium on April 23.

GENARO HERE FOR BIG BOUT WITH SHEPPARD AT ARMORY A. A.

FLYWEIGHT CHAMPION TO BATTLE GREAT PUNCHER

By JACK CONWAY.

Frankie Genaro

Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, has arrived in Boston to complete training for his ten-round bout with Johnny Sheppard of Woburn, which will be staged by the Armory A. A. at Mechanics Building tomorrow night. The three times conqueror of Pancho Villa was accompanied by Phil Bernstein, his manager, and a flock of trainers. The party has secured a suite at the Copley Square Hotel.

Genaro planned to engage in a strenuous workout at Kelly & Hayes Gym in Bowdoin square this afternoon. Genaro's admirers in the Italian colony intend to stage a banquet in his honor after the bout tomorrow night.

The American flyweight champion has trained harder for this tussle than for any contest in which he has ever engaged. This writer saw Genaro work out at Stillman's Gym in New York last week. We remarked upon the earnestness of the work of the brilliant little Italian boxer.

GENARO REALIZES SHEPPARD HAS RING CLASS.

"Genaro has trained harder for this bout than for any in which he has ever engaged," declared Manager Bernstein. "We realize that Sheppard is one of the greatest little fighters in the country as he proved by the way he won over Abe Friedman, Paddy Owens, Bud Taylor and Phil O'Dowd. If Frankie can conquer Sheppard, Villa cannot avoid a meeting much longer with the American champion who won his title by defeating the Filipino."

Bernstein admitted today he has made arrangements with a Boston promoter for a contest here with Villa. As the latter is threatened with suspension in New York unless he battles Genaro, the chances are the match will be closed in the event Genaro is able to win over the aggressive and heavy hitting Sheppard.

Villa says he will not meet Genaro in New York on account of the latter being a favorite along Big Broadway. As the Filipino has won all of his contests in this city and has always been treated very fairly by the officials of our Boxing Commission, he probably would have no serious objections to meeting Genaro here provided he knows he must fight or be suspended.

Villa and Genaro have already met three times. The first tussle was a no-decision affair and the popular verdict was won by Genaro. The last two contests were to a decision in New York and the American champion won on each occasion.

Genaro is tackling one of the toughest little fellows in the boxing game in the person of Sheppard. The latter has proved a ring sensation. He is managed by Paddy Minehan, who in the old days, piloted Jimmy Gardner and Kid Goodman.

WOBURN BOY WON OVER TAYLOR BEFORE 10,000 FANS.

Gardner has been connected with Sheppard's training camp, while Jake Kilrain, oldtime heavyweight star, has handed the Woburn youth many valuable tips on the fistic art.

The remarkable thing about Sheppard is that he won his ring spurs when battling away from home. He invaded the Middle West and gained national recognition when he walloped Bud Taylor of Chicago before 10,000 fans at a show staged at Indianapolis the night before the big auto race last May. Sheppard and Taylor put up such a spectacular contest that they were rematched. Once more Johnny won.

Upon his return home, Sheppard knocked out Paddy Owens in five rounds. He then walloped Abe Friedman. Phil O'Dowd of Columbus, O., who has a referee's decision to his credit over Joe Lynch, was his next victim.

Sheppard realizes that Genaro is one of the wonder men of the ring, but he figures that his own agressiveness, punching power and determination will gain for him the victory.

Sheppard has that something which makes champions, which enables a boxer to put over the big wallop.

GREAT CROWD TO SEE MIDGET BOXERS IN ACTION.

There is tremendous interest in the bout and it is expected that one of the largest crowds of the season will be on hand to witness fez ivities. Two midget packages of T. N. T. should give the fans plenty to cheer about.

There will also be three eights. Jack Dillon of Woburn will clash with Al Walthers of Providence. Hughie Kennedy of Pawtucket will meet Young Theroux of Nashua, while Johnny Duffy of Lowell will collide with Frankie LaBate of Brockton.

Eddie Polo of Waterville, Me., and Young Baxter of Pawtucket, R. I., bantam champions of their respective States, who already have fought two of the most sensational contests with honors even that have been seen in the Shoe City for years will battle in the feature bout at the Casino A. C., Lynn, tonight.

Eddie Polo

Bob Lowrie, the Scotchman who handed Billy Shannon a lacing two weeks ago will meet Memphis Kid Green in the semi-final and the Scotchman may find the "going" tougher as Green is a much better boxer and hitter than Shannon.

George Korbis of Peabody will make his professional debut in a six-round bout with Willie Rose of Montreal.

HARVARD BASKETBALL TEAM PLAYS TONIGHT

This is the first time since the resumption of basketball at Harvard that Columbia has come to Cambridge.

The visitors have a remarkable forward in Sammy Strom, who was close on the heels of Pite of Yale last year for high scorer. Wilson, a back, is another veteran. Columbia has lost only one game to date and has victories over Princeton and Penn. Harvard has five straight victories to its credit, but must travel to keep the slate clean.

TRI-CITY BOUTS PROMISE HOT BATTLES

Boxing fans will see one of the greatest amateur tournaments ever staged in this city tonight in Mechanics Building when Boston, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia boxers will strive to win a place on the Olympic team to represent America in Paris.

Bill Cuddy

Although the Hub boys are considered a strong lot, those who will represent the Quaker City and the Smoky City are classed as the best to ever represent their cities.

This tournament will produce some of the best fighting ever seen at an amateur boxing show.

Johnny Walsh, manager of the Philadelphia team of boxers, sends word that the boys who will represent the Quaker City will win all four prizes.

John T. Taylor, secretary of the Pittsburgh Association, who will bring the Smoky City boys here, says that they will uphold its reputation. Pittsburgh is noted for the stars it has sent to the Hub in the past.

Such boxers as Pete and Jack Zivic, now famous in the professional ranks; Homer Robinson, the colored star; Frank Grayber and his younger brother, came here from Pittsburgh as amateurs.

Manager Cuddy says that he has picked one of the best teams that ever represented Boston and feels sure that the local boys will win all four classes and represent Boston in the Olympic championships in July.

In addition to the tri-city show, there will be three open classes, at 126 and 160 pounds and one for novice heavyweight classes. There are eight entries in the heavyweight class.

LYNN FATHER MATS BATTLE SALEM MATS

The Father Mats, of Lynn, one of the fastest semi-pro basketball teams in the State, will stack up against the strongest opposition they have met this year when they play the Salem Mats at the North Street Rink, Salem, tonight.

The Lynn Mats have won twelve straight games so far this season and have yet to meet defeat. But they must travel fast as the Salem team has in its lineup such stars as Marty Donovan, the former Peabody High coach; Bill Crean, the former Peabody High star, and Joe O'Connor, who plays for the Salem Town team.

Manager Frankie Wall is optimistic and says that speed and youth will beat these men. He also has a few open dates and any team desiring a good attraction should get in touch with him at Lynn 6138-J, or write to Father Mats Hall, Summer street, Lynn.

DUNDEE AGREES TO BATTLE LOMBARDO

Panama, Jan. 21.—Promoter Roberts announces that Johnny Dundee's conditions for a fight with Jose Lombardo had been accepted and the match assured.

The contest will be for the 130-pound championship to take place in Panama City, Feb. 22.

Olympic Sled and Ski Runs Are Ready

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT.

Paris, Jan. 21.—In the little town of Chamonix, in the shadow of Mt. Blanc, all is in readiness when Count Clary, president of the Eighth Olympic Committee, will open officially the Winter sports.

Mrs. Blanchard

From then until February 4,500 athletes representing America, France, England and thirteen other nations will battle in the snow and on the rink for premier honors.

The big question for the Winter Sports Committee of the eighth Olympic is—"To freeze or not to freeze." It has happened in the past that a thaw would come along a day or two before a carnival and the competitors would regret that they had not brought their canoes and bathing suits instead of their skates and skis.

With the exception of the possibility of naughty elements all has been done to make the sports a success. The town of Chamonix made a loan of 1,500,000 francs with which to prepare for the event.

Nat Niles

The French Federation of Winter Sports took 600,000 francs of the loan for permission to make the town permanent headquarters.

As a consequence the rink, the bob run and the ski jump have been built with a thought to permanency, therefore much better results have been attained.

"They've built," says Monsieur Frantz-Reichel, French sportsman and chairman of the Winter Sports Committee, "one of the best rinks I ever saw, with a seating capacity of 4,000 and a total surface of 40,000 square yards.

The bob sled run is 5,904 feet long and has eighteen turns. In order to blaze a trail for the run nearly 10,000 trees were cut down and in many places dynamite was used on the mountain side to blast out the rock.

"The run," continues Monsieur Reichel, "is 3,969 feet high at the top and 3,456 feet at the bottom. This means that a sled actually drops 513 feet during the run. Almost as high as some American skyscrapers."

With much labor and hard work the Aerial Cable Railway has been completed and will be used to carry the competitors to the top of the run.

The cars will carry 20 passengers and will make a speed of five miles an hour.

An idea of the preparation made for the games may be had when it is known that the pylons for the cable line average 70 feet in height and are banked at their base with 250 cubic yards of masonry to protect them from avalanches.

Great care has been given to the grading of the ski jump and it is expected that some record leaps will be made.

The runway from the depart to the take-off is 60 yards long and affords a reception slope of 170 yards.

One thousand beds have been engaged by the committee for the competitors and officials. All the rooms for the competitors will be steam heated.

In addition the committee has contracted for meals for the entrants at a minimum cost.

"There will be 17 nations represented," concludes M. Reichel, "which will bring 400 competitors agree with me when I say that no such number of cold weather sportsmen ever got together in the past."

Among the fancy skaters who will probably compete are Mrs. Blanchard and Nat Niles, both well known in Boston.

The program from January 25 to February 5 includes:

Skating (speed)—500, 1,500, 5,000 and 10,000 meters.

Skating (fancy figures)—Ladies, gentlemen and mixed.

Skiing (long distance)—50 kilometers.

Skiing—Jumping.
Hockey.
Curling.
Bobsledding.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

International Horse Race Urged as Annual Event

By BASIL MOON.

Paris, Jan. 21 (Universal)—An effort is being made by Henri Letellier, owner of Le Journal, which promoted the Million Franc International Racing Cup to be raced for here May 3, to make the event an annual one.

Letellier told Universal Service that his idea was not to limit the number of entrants, nor to insist that the horses and riders be chosen by the jockey clubs of the different countries.

"I think elimination races should be held in each country at least three months before the race," he said, "and the two first choices be made the competitors. But I think that, questions of age and weight apart, entrance into these elimination races should be open to everyone.

On May 3 I hope to see a race with six horses—two each from England, the United States and France. One of the French entrants will undoubtedly be Epinard, who will afterward, I understand, go to the United States.

"While in giving the cup and stakes I have stipulated that the entire profits of the day shall be given to needy French students, I make no stipulation on the conditions which will rule the race in other countries—for my intention is that the race should be run each year in the country which sent the previous year's winner.

BIG PITCHING YEAR AHEAD IN NATIONAL

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

New York, Jan. 21 (International). —Pitching, that all but abandoned art by which a man gains the ability to throw them past the batter between the shoulders and the knees, will enjoy an era of prosperity in the National League this year such as it has not known since the war, according to an opinion expressed by John A. Heydler. The National League president was pleased to admit that he was highly gratified by the fact that an unusual number of promising young pitchers are coming up for a trial this Spring.

"Nearly every National League club has managed to get possession of one or more young pitchers who give every indication of making the grade," he said. "I think the National League will have its best pitching year since the war, what with a gradual improvement noted among the veterans and the addition of hustling young blood.

WAR REALLY HELPED NATIONAL PASTIME.

"Just what was behind the let-down and the great scarcity of curve ball pitchers, I cannot fathom. Perhaps the war had as much to do with it as anything else. It hurt all athletics for several years. Now we are beginning to reap the benefits. The war brought sports to the attention of many American youths who had little interest in the competitive side of athletics before enlistment. Some of these men are our ball players of the very near future."

Speaking of the young pitchers now in transit to the Big Time, Heydler commented favorably upon Wayland Dean, a right-hander, for whom the Giants are said to have paid $50,000 to the Louisville Colonels. He was one of the men Heydler had in mind when he predicted a season of improved pitching.

MAY LOOKS LIKE REAL FIND FOR REDS.

Jake May of the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast League, was another. He had been taken over by the Cincinnati Reds for $35,000 and two ball players and is supposed to have been ripe for plucking no less than two years ago. But at that time the Yankees lashed themselves into a lather over May, but to no purpose. Tom Sheehan of St. Paul, also impressed Heydler as a fine prospect for the Reds.

"The best thing about May and Sheehan is that they do not lack for major league experience," Heydler added. "May was with the Cardinals for several years and Sheehan with the Athletics and Yankees. They may be the pioneers of a new era.

"Hitting is only a phase, I believe. When I was a youngster, every boy wanted to be a pitcher. Then along came Ruth and Hornsby and every one turned to hitting. A pitcher with a good curve and change of pace is a rarity at this moment, but I think the turn in the lane is just ahead."

SPAIN HAS A FAST TRACK FOR RACES

Madrid, Jan. 21.—With the opening of the National Autodrome motor-racing track by the Infante Don Alfonso at Sitges, twenty miles from Barcelona, Spain, at last becomes possessed of an "Indianapolis Speedway."

The track—situated in beautiful country on the shore of the Mediterranean—is one and a quarter miles long and from nineteen and a half to twenty-four yards wide, and the turnings are banked to allow of speeds up to 125 miles per hour. It is of cement, and when finished with grandstands, etc., will have cost about $1,000,000.

Inside the automobile track is a horse-racing ground and a motorcycle track, while adjoining there are tennis courts and football fields.

Careless Shampooing Spoils The Hair
USE MULSIFIED

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Marion Davies Film at Park Theatre Reveals Manhattan of a Century Ago

By WINSOR McCAY.

"LITTLE OLD NEW YORK" is more than a motion picture classic. It is a poem.

Edgar Allan Poe held that the sole province of poetry is beauty. So, if that be true, it is more than a poem, for it not alone is supreme from the standards of beauty, but it is perfect in its story, its action and its portrayal.

So to me it is a symphony, a poem and a drama, all in one.

I went to see "Little Old New York" at the Park Theatre last night. Luckily arrangements had been made for me to have a seat, for I was barely in time to see the great and colorful drama of the New York of Robert Fulton's time open.

Had I tried to get a seat at the box office, I am afraid I should not have succeeded in getting in. It was a capacity crowd.

The beautiful and poetic nature of the Irish, I think, never has been portrayed in more suitable, refined and spectacular way than in "Little Old New York." The acting of Miss Davies was a supreme triumph for this star.

In all my years as a first-nighter, an artist, cartoonist, and occasionally a newspaper reporter, I have had many opportunities to see noteworthy actresses portray the roles of young men. I usually thought those actresses unable to give a convincing performance.

But here, with Miss Davies appearing as her brother, Pat O'Day, after he has died in a storm at sea, I realized more than ever the many sidedness of Miss Davies' art on the silver sheet.

EXQUISITE FILM

She not only made a supple-limbed, vivacious Irish lad, but she did it with such aptness and grace that the illusion created was perfection.

I had heard that "Little Old New York" was a great picture. Having seen it and having criticised it frankly and unsparingly in my own mind, I would go further than saying it is a "great picture." It is a "greater picture."

It is a greater picture in its settings, planned and executed by the famous Urban. It is a greater picture in its compactness of plot. It is a greater picture in its logical march along the paths of pure romance. It is a greater picture in its exact protrayal of historical ground, of such historical personages, such as John Jacob Astor, Washington Irving, Robert Fulton, the first American Vanderbilt and others.

"GREATEST" THE WORD

And as for Miss Davies, it is not only a greater picture, but I would say flatly it is her GREATEST picture. And when I remember several of her triumphs I think this is saying much.

To sit—I don't know how long, for I was so transported from the life of the real to the life of the make-believe—to sit there and see a flawless picture, enjoy it and take a vicarious pleasure in its movement was indeed worth while. We need more pictures of this character, even though another like it would be hard to accomplish. It was an uplift and an historical lesson in one.

To Harrison Ford, who played the part of Pat O'Day's youthful guardian, a deal of credit must go for his fine, sympathetic and outstanding performance. The realistic playing of Courtenay Foote as Robert Fulton, Mahlon Hamilton as Washington Irving and Andrew Dillon as John Jacob Astor is more than worthy of mere mention.

When Miss Davies, as Pat O'Day, rang the fire alarm in the hose house, where a bare knuckle prize fight was in progress, the scene was one that hit home.

STARTLING REVELATION

Again, when she made the startling revelation at the whipping post that she was only a girl and not the lad she was thought to be and when the big brute prize fighter, "The Hoboken Terror" (Louis Wolheim) ceased in his whipping, the action of the play was superbly sustained.

Not to be forgotten was the historic scene on the banks of the Hudson, when crowds came to laugh at "Fulton's Folly," his steamboat, the Clermont. And when it moved and proved his invention a revolutionary success, one felt pride in the fact that he gave to America the honor of having the first steamboat.

I have tried to put in the accompanying sketches a little of what I felt and what impressed me with this gorgeous and convincing picture of "Little Old New York." But, alas, the artist can go only so far, even though he be inspired by such a sight of beauty and such a story of romantic purity and historic breadth.

I repeat, it was not only a great picture. It was a "Greater Picture."

FAMISHED GIRL HAS ENOUGH OF NEW YORK

Tired of Job-Hunting; Is Now Ready to Return to Home She Left in Anger

Guttenberg, N. J., Jan. 21 (Universal).—Myra Cole, the pretty, cultured seventeen-year-old girl who collapsed here Friday because of hunger, has told Chief of Police Baum she had had enough of New York and is ready to return home.

Previously, Baum had been informed by the chief of police of Warwick, R. I., that he had found relatives of the girl in Mills Grove, R. I., and money for her return would be forwarded.

Miss Cole, under treatment in the North Hudson Hospital, Weehawken, was much improved today. She told the physician she had not eaten for thirty hours previous to her collapse.

The girl came to New York last Monday, after a family quarrel, she told the police. She took a furnished room and tried to find employment. What little money she had soon was exhausted. She went to New Jersey Friday in response to an advertisement, failed, and collapsed on her way back.

CONGRESS BUSY WITH NOTHING BUT PROBES

On Eighth Week, No Laws Passed, Both Houses Are Holding Investigations

Washington, Jan. 21 (I.N.S.).—Without a single new law to its credit, the Sixty-eighth Congress entered its eighth week today in the role of a national grand jury.

Lacking only the power of indictment, the Senate launched the greatest number of concurrent investigations in its history. The inquiries, held before special and standing committees, were directed into charges brought against public officials, alleged interference with the "court" of public opinion and into questions of national policies.

The House meanwhile concerned itself with settling a dispute between adherents and opponents of the Mellon tax reduction program and the soldiers' bonus, and with launching the great governmental appropriation bills on their journey through Congress.

BOK AWARD.

The most extensive Senate inquiry was one launched into the existence of "lobbies" and the activity of paid propagandists authorized under a resolution sponsored by Senator Reed of Missouri.

The scope was unlimited and the first subject was the "Bok peace award." Once this subject is investigated the inquiry will be directed into "propaganda" circulated in support of the Mellon tax program and in opposition to a soldiers' bonus.

An investigation of national importance was launched by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee into railroad freight rates. The committee met under its new chairman, Chairman Ellison Smith of South Carolina, Democrat.

The Senate Public Lands Committee met to resume its investigation into the leasing of naval oil reserves by Former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall.

WOOD CASES.

Another inquiry into farm depression and proposals for relief was continued before the Senate Agriculture Committee. Several bills, establishing Federal aid for export corporations, were under discussion.

Two inquiries—the contest to unseat Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat, Texas, and into the existence of medical "diploma mills"—were temporarily held in abeyance while agents sought additional evidence.

In the Senate it was planning an inquiry into the administration of Governor General Leonard Wood in the Philippine Islands and the stock-dealing transactions of his son, Lieutenant Osborne C. Wood.

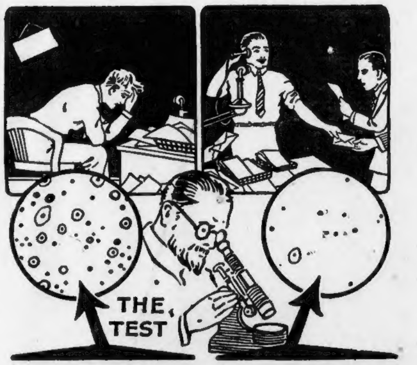
BEWARE OF INDICAN

the poison sign of constipation, warn health authorities—What to do.

THE danger of constipation is its poison, warn physicians. This poison is pumped into every little muscle and every little joint in your body. Beware! for it has the same effect as Carbolic Acid or any other poison.

Do you dare to make a test to prove this? Three out of four constipated men and women under such a test show the presence of INDICAN, and Indican is the sign doctors look for to find out if your blood is poisoned.

Carter's Little Liver Pills, unlike ordinary laxatives, not only "physic" the stomach, liver and intestines quickly, but also drive the INDICAN away.



Is it constipation that weakens your physical power? INDICAN indicates the poison of constipation without guessing—ask your doctor.

Same man after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days—note the clean, normal specimen — FREE FROM INDICAN.

Make This Test: Have analysis made of your specimen, and if the chemist reports the presence of INDICAN—or if cause of bad stomach, no appetite, foul breath and sour taste—immediately start taking Carter's Liver Pills. Next, have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears. Now your clear, bright complexion, free from pimples and blackheads, comes back—you can EAT like a kid, and you feel FIT in most cases.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills, used for 67 years by millions of people all over the world, is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts in a natural way and is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

FILM AT FENWAY REVIVES OLD COMEDY

"The Yankee Consul" Offers Fine Vehicle for Douglas MacLean's Talents

It was just one score years ago [illegible] Savage brought Raymond Hitchcock in "The Yankee Consul" to Boston. So it is with [illegible] that the twentieth anniversary of the advent of this musical comedy is celebrated by the film which is showing at the Fenway Theatre this week with Douglas MacLean in the titular role.

The story centers about a certain [illegible] the [illegible] money in the bank, no work [illegible] and [illegible] not a great [illegible]

NICE LITTLE PLOT

[illegible] for the young [illegible] peace of mind, plants [illegible] where he is [illegible] that he is to [illegible] the part of the American consul [illegible] as he can or else be [illegible] for impersonating a [illegible] There is some steal [illegible] American [illegible] over [illegible] gold and a beautiful girl [illegible] bad company who needs to [illegible]

The friendly plot is progressing quite satisfactorily with young Mr. Ainsworth acquiring a great deal of interest in life—as well as in a girl—until the new consul suddenly radios to the United States fleet for help, naturally believing he has the right to take the drastic measure.

FAIRBANKS' RIVAL.

Things look pretty dark when the admiral and the true consul appear upon the scene until it is discovered that the girl who has been hired to act the part of the maiden in distress is the admiral's niece. Masks [illegible] removed all around, things are explained—and everybody is happy.

Besides the fact that they both have [illegible] as a [illegible] Mr. MacLean [illegible] much of the Mr. Fairbanks [illegible] The farce calls upon the star to execute a great many antics of the Fairbanks [illegible] where young Mr. Ainsworth attempts to take a flashlight picture of himself for his passport photo the pupil bids fair to outdo the master.

Patsy Ruth Miller stands out appealingly as Margarita, the damsel in dire trouble. It is safe to say that forty nine out of fifty normal males would be sure to find interest in their existence if she were anywhere in the offing—and the fifth might be examined for normalcy.

An added feature to the Fenway bill is the first part of a film narrative showing "Around the World in the Speejacks," the cinema log of a 98-foot launch in the farthermost corners of the earth, amazingly delightful and interesting.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY BROKEN OUT SKIN

Says Mentho-Sulphur Overcomes Trouble Almost Overnight

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough instantly. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle, and soothes and heals the irritated membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes with such ease and promptness that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Clogged-Up? Here's Quick Aid

NEVER mind what you are using now for constipation. For all you know there is a better remedy! The next time you are clogged up try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a laxative successfully used for 30 years, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Mrs. John A. Goins of Butlerville, Ind., constipated all her life, her stomach injured from years of pill taking, is now functioning daily since taking Syrup Pepsin; and Mr. David O'Connor of Canton, Ohio, suffering steadily for three years, got relief after a few doses. The list of successful users of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is naturally large as over 10 million bottles are sold annually.

Formula on Every Package

Get yourself a bottle at a drug store, the cost being less than a cent a dose. Take a spoonful at bedtime for a few nights and we guarantee that the most chronic constipation will be relieved, or refund your money. A few doses in succession soon train the stomach muscles to act for themselves. Many, however, take it once a week and in that way keep the bowels regularly open. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, unlike harsh physics such as calomel, "candy cathartics," salt waters and powders, is a simple vegetable laxative composed of Egyptian senna and pepsin with tasty aromatics which are entirely harmless.

This Remedy Guaranteed

It has been accurately proven that a constipated person is only 75 per cent efficient. It slows you up; makes you dull and lazy. Take Syrup Pepsin the first day you do not have complete bowel movement. Take it, guaranteed, for constipation, torpid liver, dyspepsia, biliousness, sour stomach, headache, lack of appetite. A spoonful at the first sneeze or sniffle will kill a cold overnight. Half the ailments of winter start with constipation followed by a cold.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

[illegible] The Labor Party will not be able to force [illegible] legislation distasteful to [illegible] the Liberals or Conservatives. The outflow of capital [illegible] may not continue [illegible]

[illegible] there is at least a prospect that the conference [illegible] General Dawes [illegible] to evolve some [illegible] stemming the [illegible] debacle. As the principal interested parties are in a more [illegible] frame of mind today than ever before. Should this optimistic hope be fulfilled, we can count upon the lending of very large amounts of American capital to European countries, thus causing a cessation of our gold imports and perhaps some considerable outflow.

So are the security markets.

* * *

Caution is still the prevailing keynote. The Labor Department reports a slight decline in wholesale prices during December. It is significant that manufacturers of certain classes of cotton goods [illegible] advance prices for next season, notwithstanding that raw material quotations have advanced materially. Many merchants are now invading New York, Chicago and other primary [illegible] being [illegible] All this [illegible] check, [illegible] condition.

GEN. ELECTRIC AT NEW HIGH SINCE 1902

U. S. Steel [illegible] at the best [illegible] figure. Studebaker was [illegible]

Baldwin, Westinghouse and Du Pont [illegible] over 3 [illegible]

[illegible] trading bears [illegible] their sales against automotive issues and uncovered a number of stop loss orders, Willys Overland slumping 3 points, Stewart Warner 2¾, Chandler 2 and others in that group a point or more. Chemical, Can and Steel shares also yielded readily to selling pressure. Persistent buying of Lehigh Valley and Corn Products eventually halted the decline and started some stocks upward again before noon.

Good inquiry was noted for Chesapeake & Ohio, Associated Oil and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe. Call money opened at 4 per cent.

New Haven Issues Are Feature in Bond Mart

Strength of the New Haven issues was the outstanding feature, the franc 7s advancing 2 points and the 3½s of 1956 gaining more than a point. Heavy foreign buying contributed to the rise of the franc obligations, for which a demand developed when Paris exchange rates began to decline last week.

Seaboard, Missouri Pacific and Northern Pacific issues moved higher, but quotations of the St. Paul liens eased off on profit taking.

Traction bonds were in demand, Interborough and Third Avenue Railway issues recording gains of a point or more.

Edison Advances to New High in Boston

Most important departure from last week's closing prices was in Edison Electric, which gained from 168 to a new current high of 170 allowing for the fact that the $3 dividend was lopped off the other day. Generally the [illegible] Boston stock list ruled steady to firm. Warren Brothers convertible 7½ per cent bonds hardened a quarter point to 114⅛.

Interstate Commerce Commission authorize New York, New Haven & Hartford to issue $1,042,000 equipment notes, bearing 6 per cent interest which are to be used in con[illegible] electric locomotives from Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing [illegible]

Wall St. Gossip

TEXAS CO. has met advances of Humble Oil on Mexia and Powell crude oils to $1.60 barrel and Currie crude to $1.75.

CHICAGO Surface Lines gross earnings for 1923 were $57,328,415, against $8,103,862 for 1922.

ESTIMATED figures of Canadian National Railways for 1923 indicate net deficit after fixed charges will be $40,000,000, against $60,000,000 lost in 1922.

U. S. STEEL is now operating more than 85 per cent. of capacity, and incoming business is running in excess of production.

BIG SUGAR ISSUE IS SOLD IN HOUR

Banking syndicate which offered 42,000 shares of Great Western Sugar Company common stock at $[illegible] a share reports entire issue was sold within an hour after the books opened. The annual dividend on the stock was increased from $4 to $8 a share last week.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR COACH CONFIRMED

New York Transit Commissioner Harkness confirms report that Chicago interests are negotiating for purchase of Fifth Avenue Coach Company, which operates busses on Fifth avenue, Riverside Drive and other streets of New York. These interests include John A. Ritchie, former president of Fifth Avenue Coach Company and now president of the Chicago Motor Coach Company and John Hertz, president of Chicago Yellow Cab Company.

MERGER OF OILS IS UNDER WAY

Consolidation of the Associated Oil Company with the Pacific Oil Company, which owns 51 per cent. of the former's stock, is being planned, according to reports in the financial district. Pacific Oil, it is understood, will increase its capitalization to take over the minority holdings of Associated Oil.

Weymouth Light & Power

Petition to Department of Public Utilities of Weymouth Light & Power Co. for approval of an issue of $400,000 in stock has been withdrawn by the company and a petition for issue of $350,000 in bonds has been filed instead.

TECUMSEH MILLS' SALE FOR MILLION

Sale of Tecumseh Mills, exclusive of cotton cloth on hand and Liberty bonds, to Davol Mills at Fall River for $1,000,000 will be voted on by stockholders of former concern at meeting January 30. Davol Mills will be given option of paying in cash or equivalent in stock at par. In such event Davol Mills capitalization will be increased from $500,000 to $1,500,000.

TUOLUMNE COPPER LEVIES ASSESSMENT

Tuolumne Copper Company has levied an assessment of 30 cents a share on the 203,007 shares of stock of the reorganized company, payable February 14. Company states that any stock upon which the assessment shall remain unpaid will be sold at public auction March 3 at Butte, Mont.

SOLDIERS' BONUS BONDS AROUND PAR

New York bankers will offer for sale Jan. 22, $3,500,000 Kansas soldiers' bonus bonds. The issue, awarded at a premium, probably will be around par.

REPLIES TO INVESTORS

COPPERS.

To J. H. K.—We should think your experience with Chino and Ray Consolidated would have been sufficiently instructive to convince you that you cannot make any money in speculating in copper stocks. It would appear to us that it would be better for you to invest your $1,000 in something that offers a more tangible investment than even the best copper stock in existence.

At the present time we are not advising a purchase in any of the standard coppers. Comparatively few of the standard coppers can make any money in mining and selling metallic copper at its present price level. And the present price level is not likely to go up very much until Europe enters the market in a more forceful way. And Europe cannot buy very much copper when the foreign exchange situation is so balled up as it is now. Put your $1,000 into 10 shares of American Woolen 7 per cent. preferred and play safe.

FILM STOCK.

To L. D. L.—We have read over your interesting remarks and the advertising literature of the Virginia Films Inc., together with the letter you received dated February 17, 1921. You ask us if it would be well for you to sell the stock and put the money in the bank. We should give unqualified approval of that if there were any way in which you could sell it. But who would buy it? Do you know of anyone who would buy it? We don't.

There appears to be absolutely no market value for it. Unless you could find a personal friend who would be willing to take it off your hands and pay you something for it you will have to hold the stock whether you want to or not. Our records fail to give any information about this company. We do not know whether it is now alive or not.

But we do know that a vast number of motion picture and film schemes have been promoted and stocks have been flung in clouds to the investing public. Only 2 per cent. of them have made good from the investor's view point. Most of them are at present not to be traced.

We regret that we have to give you such poor advice, but it is the very best information that we have been able to dig out from our files.

Comparatively few private investors who put money into such things stop to ask the vital question—is there any market for this stock? That should be determined before any money is put into such things. Usually there is no market for promotions of this sort.

KELSEY MOTOR

To W. C. E.—You do not say whether it is the old stock of Kelsey Motor that you have or the new stock. Did you exchange it for the new? We understand that this company went through a sort of financial re-organization last summer and that some of the unfortunate shareholders were crowded out entirely claiming that they never received notice. You do not say whether you exchanged your old stock for the new. If you have the new stock we should think that it might be better for you to hold on to it a while longer and take a gambler's chance with it. But we would not buy any more of it.

HOLD THESE STOCKS.

To H. S.—You ask if we think it will be to your advantage to hold Famous Players and Island Creek Coal. In order definitely to advise you as you wish we would be assuming a responsibility that would not be very much to our liking. We would be just as likely to go wrong as go right. That is because of the high degree of speculative character that invests these two stocks. At the same time we might say on the platform of broad viewpoint that Famous Players doesn't now appear to be a sale, owing to the fact that the company has started up production again, and it would not seem that Island Creek Coal was a sale, owing to the fact that the stock has been pounded down in the market, in direct contrast to the company's [illegible]. If the writer were the holder of these stocks he would continue to retain them for the time being.

SPECULATIVE.

To C. V. V.—Fisk Rubber and Consolidated Textile are undeniably so highly speculative as to exclude them from the list of investment securities. You ask if they are "good investments," stating that you have been advised to buy. If you did buy either or both of these issues you should be governed entirely by your financial condition and willingness to take a high degree of speculative risk. It would not be meet for us to advise you one way or the other except to raise a friendly hand of caution.

RADIO STOCK

To C. B.—Radio Corporation of America common stock is a long pull speculation that seems to have attractive possibilities. We should advise you to leave severely alone, however, the other two stocks you refer to.

FACTS NEEDED.

To H. C.—As a matter of fact, the stocks you confer with us about are so speculative in character that they cannot really be measured by the standards of appraisal that we use in determining the value of real investment securities. And this difficulty is increased by the fact that we do not know how well you can afford to assume a speculative risk and under the circumstances do not want to take the responsibility of giving definite advice.

Perhaps it would be better to invest in a stable stock or bond. You would get more satisfaction in the long run. The possibility of a speculative reward would not be present to any great degree, but compensation in safety would make up for this.

$2,000 TO INVEST.

To H. D.—You state that you have $2,000 to invest and are thinking of putting the money into Liberty bonds in order to get a high degree of safety. When one of our readers evinces a willingness to buy Liberty bonds for his investment it relieves us entirely of any onerous responsibility. We can tell such a reader—as we shall tell you—that a Liberty bond investment is about the finest thing that we ever came across.

And when a man is willing to accept 4¼ per cent. for his money in order to get a high degree of safety, he is the kind of a man that we like to do business with. We hope you will carry out your intention and buy $2,000 worth of Liberty bonds. It makes very little difference which issue you buy. You will never regret it.

There may be times, however, when you would wish that you had bought this or that speculative stock in order to get a higher yield for your money and the reward of a market profit. But you can stifle such aspirations in the conscious knowledge that you have at least adhered to the lines of the highest degree of safety, and this one thing alone will bring to you an abiding sense of comfort that no other investment could give you entirely. By all means buy Liberty bonds.

Get Expert Advice Before Trading in Stocks or Bonds

Before buying or selling stocks or bonds you ought to get expert advice. You also need reliable information from time to time, as market conditions change, regarding your list of holdings.

Such advice is yours for the asking. Address inquiries in confidence to Frank H. Meloon, Financial Editor of the Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass., enclosing stamp for reply. Please write in ink on one side of the paper only.

STELLA DALLAS ☙ By Olive Higgins Prouty

New and Intensely Interesting Serial of a Marriage of an Educated Man to an Untutored Woman

What Is the Effect Upon the Two, and Especially Upon Their Strange and Beautiful Child Laurel?

HOW THE STORY STARTED

Stella Dallas and her husband, Stephen, do not live together. They have a daughter, thirteen years old, named Laurel, who stays most of the year with the mother. They visit a Summer hotel in New England, where the other guests look askance at the painted, overdressed elder woman. The time has come for Laurel to visit her father in New York. He meets her at the station and takes her to a hotel. She goes to visit Mrs. Morrison. The story now goes back to the marriage of Stephen and Stella at Milhampton. Stella starts a flirtation with Alfred Munn. The leading women of the town begin to drop her. Stephen, deciding he can never go back to her, starts a divorce suit. The story then goes back to Mrs. Morrison's marriage to her aged millionaire suitor. The latter dies and Stephen confesses his love to the widow. Stella and Laurel get in with society set at a Summer hotel and Laurel goes canoeing with Richard Grosvenor.

"WHY, of course you can, my dear. You don't understand. You are not of age to make your own decisions yet, Laurel."

"Oh, yes, I am, father."

"But you're not. Not on a matter of this sort. Your mother and I have decided this for you."

"Your mother and I have decided this for you"

"Does mother know of it?"

Two little bright spots appeared in the centre of Laurel's cheeks.

"The trunks will have to be sent back then," she announced. "How silly to have tried to force me like that!"

"We didn't think it would be forcing. We believed it would be a plan that would make you very happy. It was your mother's idea, to say nothing about it beforehand, to avoid, I believe, good-byes."

Laurel replied calmly, "I came down here for four days and I am going home in four days, father."

"Oh, no, it isn't," she flashed back, "and it never will be home either, as long as my mother is alive." Laurel stood up. "Of course you can lock me up if you want to," she went on, "but I shan't stay any other way. Please understand that."

The bright spots on her cheeks had not disappeared. There were unfamiliar lines and shadows, too, about her chin and jaw. Helen and Stephen stared at her. They had never felt the steel in Laurel before.

"But, Laurel——"

"Oh, don't let's argue about it, father. It won't do the least bit of good."

"Why, this is absurd, impossible. I cannot allow——"

"Just a minute, Stephen," Helen interrupted. There were bright spots in the centre of Stephen's cheeks, too. "Laurel, dear," she said, reaching for Laurel's hand, drawing her down on the sofa again. "Listen. Let me explain. It is your mother's wish. It's all your mother's planning. This—all this"—with a wave of her hand she included the whole house and all it stood for in way of happiness for Laurel—"is her gift to you." (The truth was best, Helen concluded.) "She came and saw me about it last Summer. We talked it all over in detail, together."

"When last Summer?" Laurel exclaimed.

"Last July."

(Oh, then, it flashed across Laurel, her mother had heard! She hadn't been asleep that night on the train! She hadn't been to Milhampton the next day to see Effie McDavitt. She had been to New York to give her Mrs. Morrison!)

"Well, I shan't take her gift," said Laurel. (Her mother! Her wonderful mother! And they had called her "That woman!" "That awful creature!" "That dame!")

"How foolish of you, mother," four days later Laurel scolded Stella, as they stood side by side in front of the sink in the kitchen of the Boston apartment [illegible] washed and dried the three days' collection of dishes Stella had a[illegible] [illegible] ways been [illegible]

"I know, I know," Laurel interrupted. [illegible] "No, [illegible] Rather, [illegible] kid [illegible] skimped and saved for her all that time, and given her everything under the sun you thought would make her happy—oh, that was an awfully foolish way to treat a child you hoped would trot off and leave you the first chance she got."

"What nonsense," Stella scorned. "Why, I didn't even want you before you were born. I didn't like babies."

"Yes, so you've told me before [illegible] want me now, do you? Poor thing! But you've got to have me, just [illegible] You've got to [illegible] we happen [illegible] other [illegible] you belong to your father, too."

WHO SAID IT AND WHERE

"Those foes to fair ones, Time and Thought."

"When you and I beyond the Veil are past."

No one will dispute, on this score, with Oliver Wendell Holmes, who gives this as his idea of a feast in "Nux Postcoenatica."

No words can express one's feelings so powerfully as silence does at times. Carlyle noted this fact in his "Heroes and Hero-worship."

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS---

By HELEN ROWLAND

MY Daughter, I charge thee, wed not any man, thinking to REMODEL him.

For NO woman hath ever changed a man one jot or tittle in anything save his outward appearance.

Helen Rowland

But in all his WAYS, he is as fixed as the courses of the planets.

That which he did yesterday he will do again tomorrow, and that which he hath done today, he will keep up tomorrow; and the rising and the setting of the sun is not more certain.

He that was a Sultan in the house of a Mother, shall be a Sheik and a Big Noise in the house of his Wife; and he that argueth with the waiter during courtship, shall bully the cook after marriage.

He that is late for a rendezvous with his beloved, shall keep his wife waiting all the days of his wedded life; and he that forgetteth his "date" with his sweetheart, shall forget everything from his wedding anniversary to his morning kiss afterward.

He that lingereth upon the piazza, until thy Father putteth him out, shall keep the house astir until midnight forever; for he is a nighthound!

But he that departeth early, in the days of his courtship, shall always consider thy "beauty sleep," for he is an early-bird.

Verily, verily, the bone from which Woman was made was NOT taken from Man's head, and the notions therein are as the contents of a non-refillable bottle.

Go to! For the woman's sake, he may peradventure relinquish his fortune and lay down his life; but not until his last breath will he part with one of his Pet HABITS.

Therefore, I charge thee, be prepared to accept him "as is," and to endure him cheerfully.

For verily thou mayest EXchange thine husband—but thou canst never CHANGE him!

WAYS OF A HUSBAND

SEQUEL TO "WHEN A GIRL MARRIES"

By Ann Lisle

RAMON didn't say he'd cabled. Won't you have to go some to make up to him for not being there to meet him?"

Ann Lisle

"He wanted to surprise Rosa," began Jim. Then he changed to a quick "Please permit me to manage my own affairs, Anne. You say you took Ramon and Rosa to Stanley's club last night. Tonight, then, it's up to me to entertain my friends.

"So long."

The receiver clicked up. I realized that Jim hadn't asked me to go along on his party for the Cordovas. But it seemed that he must be taking it for granted that I would. So I thought I'd better call him back and tell him that I must work and couldn't be included in a social engagement. Acting on impulse, I called our number again. After a moment I heard Jim's voice in his usual "J. H. Harrison speaking. Who is this?"

"It's Anne, Jim," I said.

"What d'you want now?" he snapped.

"I wanted to tell you that I must work tonight——"

Accepts the Inevitable

"I might!" he sneered. "But since when do you fit your plans to mine? I accept the inevitable and manage to enjoy myself without the society of Peter Stanley you seem to find so charming. Really, Anne, I've told you the least said between us the soonest mended. I prefer—if you will have it—to see Ramon without the embarrassment of your presence. Now consider this final. Good by."

The receiver again clicked into place. I slumped against the wall, too limp to risk standing without support. It came to me in an angry flash that Rosa Cordova had well understood Jim and his attitude. I was too hurt to have room in my mind for anything but a vast wonder how Jim could use me so.

For the time I forgot his treatment of Ramon, and forgot to ponder over Ramon Cordova's silence on the subject. Later I remembered. Then I found much to puzzle over in the queer way Ramon Cordova has of accepting situations in silence which may be one of biding his time and may be one of imperviousness to slight.

"What's the matter, Anne?" cried Betty's voice, suddenly breaking in on me as I stood cowering against the wall, shaken by dry sobs which I couldn't control. Then her quick [illegible] came to the rescue and she added: "Why, my poor child, you're shivering. CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Kindly settle a dispute. I says a lady should hold a man's arm when crossing a thoroughfare. I say it is the man's place to hold the lady's arm. Which is right? IRENE

WHEN a lady needs assistance in crossing a crowded thoroughfare, it is very good form for the gentleman to offer his arm saying, if he wishes, "Will you take my arm? It is so crowded here." Or, he may put his hand under her elbow and assist her in that way. But he should not take her arm.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am invited to a party and do not know how to dance. Kindly inform me how to act while the dancing is going on. C.

ABOUT the only thing you can do is to talk with other people who are not dancing. Sometimes at a party card-tables are formed of guests who do not know how to dance or do not wish to dance.

Is there any reason why you don't dance except that you don't know how? If that is the only reason, why not leap at once to the nearest dancing teacher and take some lessons? Hasn't you time to do this before the party?

If you are sure that the party is going to consist almost entirely of dancing, should you accept? I think that it is very questionable taste to accept an invitation for a party when you do not know how to do the particular thing for which you are invited—whether it be to dance, to play bridge, mah jongg, etc. It makes it a bit difficult for the hostess to plan entertainment for you. If you accept, you should explain that you do not dance.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When a young man calls on you for the first time and he arrives just after supper, is it proper to offer him something, for the sake of being hospitable, and what is the proper thing to give?

2. Is it proper for a girl to call a young man up on the telephone first, or should she wait until he calls up first? C. O.

IT is better for you not to offer the young man anything unless you perhaps invite him to join the family in after-dinner coffee. Since you had not invited him to dinner, you should not offer him any food.

2. She should certainly not call him up first. And any young lady of good taste and good breeding is very careful not to call men on the telephone unless it is really necessary.

REALIZE THAT YOU ARE CAPABLE OF BETTER THINGS.

Are you perfectly satisfied with what you have attained?

Are you so completely satisfied that you refuse to take greater responsibilities which would entail greater effort?

No matter if the greater effort would increase your salary, or make the advancement along your line which another would seek, you turn your back on anything which would make you any more than you now have.

That is the way with you—work is looked upon by you as "trouble" than you have now.

If you realize that you are capable of better things you make a mistake to settle down to present opportunities as you have.

If you have exerted yourself to the full—and what man has?—then it is time for you to give up trying to do bigger and better things.

It is not a case for worry because you do not get along better, but it is a case of work yourself up and into something better.

You have a limit the same as others, and if you have through ill health and misfortune worked yourself up to that limit, do not be unhappy mourning over what cannot be helped by you, until you have given yourself a real test.

INDEPENDENT CO. KEEPS OFF SHIP CALLS

American's Operator Report Shows WSA Ignored Danish Vessel Off New York

Further indication that the Independent Wireless Telegraph Co. has at last begun to realize its duty to broadcast listeners is shown in last night's report of the Boston American's monitor operator.

A Danish ship began calling WSA, the Independent's shore station near New York, on 450 meters at 9:29. They received no answer.

The operator on the Danish ship then began calling WSA on an average of once a minute until 9:43, when he apparently gave up.

As the Boston American has frequently pointed out to the Independent Company, this is the only way in which foreign ships may be trained not to interfere with American broadcasting.

INTERFERENCE LOG, JAN. 20.

"MIDNIGHT KISSES" BY RADIO

REVUE GIRLS IN BROADCAST STUNT

The entire Greenwich Village Follies will be broadcast from the stage of the Shubert Theatre by Station WNAC, The Shepard Stores, tonight. This will be the first broadcast of a revue from the theatre, although WNAC has broadcast many musical comedies. The girls in this picture will sing "Moonlight Kisses." They are (above), Madelyn Killeen, and (below), Ruth Conley, Geneva Price and Bee Levas.

RADIO QUERIES

By MINOT A. SIMMONS.

Radio Editor:

In answer to the request in the January 10 edition for information regarding a program from the Germantown Theatre last Sunday, I wish to state that some station in Philadelphia switches over to the theatre every Sunday evening, I think it is WDAR. Below is a list of stations I received recently on my four-tube Super, although I generally have better results with one step and the phones. We are anxiously awaiting the booklet and hope it will be ready soon. Following are the stations. WEAN, WNAC, WGI, WBZ, WOR, WHN, WEAF, WJAT, WJZ, WOC, WIP, WFI, WCX, WDAR, WOY, WGR, WHA, WJAZ, WDAP, WJAX, WTAM, WLW, WSB, WSY, WWJ, KOP, WRC, WQO, WOS, WDAF, WCAP, WHAS, WDAF, WOAW, KDKA, KYW, PWX, CKCA, KSD, NAA, WCBD.

MR. AND MRS.

Randolph.

Radio Editor:

Would it not improve the American Super to tap the secondary?

Newton. G. K. L.

The super will cover the entire broadcasting band without taps. Taps on a coil always result in a certain amount of loss.

Radio Editor:

I have a seven by twenty cabinet in which I planned to build another set. I now wish to build an American Super, but you advise a seven by twenty-four cabinet. Could the parts be grouped closer together?

Cambridge. R. KELLIHER.

Several fans who have become expert at wiring sets have succeeded in building them in smaller cabinets, but unless you have had considerable experience I should not advise you to attempt it. The radio-frequency couplers should not be placed closer together than advised in the specifications.

The Listener

I find that these eight and ten-tube super-heterodynes have their own drawbacks, the result of their extreme sensitivity. Listened to one the other night at the home of the operator who has been logging the interference for the American. It brought in code signals from Rio de Janeiro and ships far down the South American coast. It also picked up many neighborhood noises including an electric motor in a baker's shop a few doors up the line. This is not the set used for interference logging, however. A single circuit set of well known make with one stage of amplification was used for this, as being most like the sets in use in the average home.

Now comes the family broadcasting station. WIAD, down in Philadelphia, is run by Howard R. Miller, assisted by the family. All of them, even including the Tabby cat, take part in the broadcasting. We may not be quite right about the cat, as it may have been our dear neighbor letting his single circuit squeal, that we heard.

Joe Martin was introduced from WHN the other night as "The man who used to sing for Marcus Loew when he had only one theatre and Heins only one pickle." They get off a good line from that station occasionally.

Have you noticed piano tones on the radio? Properly tuned, your set will bring in piano selections so clear you can almost imagine the instrument in the same room with you, an effect that phonograph engineers for years have worked on with little success.

It is reported that $150,000,000 was spent last year by the American people for sets and accessories. Vice-President Saranoff of the Radio Corporation says that in 1929 the sum will be $500,000,000.

Station WLW in Cincinnati is planning a new contest, based on their custom of signing off every night with a quotation from some author or poet. Prizes are to be offered for those who can guess the writers of the quotations. Incidentally, the Crossley Co., which runs Station WLW, publishes a weekly magazine on radio.

Boston American's Sport Writers and Band at WNAC

The second concert by the Boston American Band, Stanislaus Gallo, conductor, will be broadcasted from the Shepard stores, next Tuesday night, eight to ten o'clock. Between numbers members of the Boston American sports staff will give short talks. J. B. Gillooly, sports editor, will talk on "Radio in Sports;" Nick Flatley, on "The Fun in Baseball;" Jack Conway, on "Stories of the Ring."

The band program follows:

March, "Boston Commandery," Carter; Waltz, "Espana," Waldteufel; Overture, "Poet and Peasant," Suppe; March, "Second Regiment Connecticut," Reeves; Gavotte, "The Chimes of St. Malo," Rimmer; Selection from "Faust," Gounod; Celebrated Minuet, Paderewski; March, "Up the Street," Morse; Scene Pittoresques, Marche Air de Ballet, Angelus, Massenet; Selection by Boston American Brass Quartet; Grand American Fantasia, Tobani; Finale — March, "The Billboard," Klohr.

SLIPSHOD WORK RUINS MANY RADIO SETS

By THE RADIATOR

You know, it's a wonder to me that so many sets work. Some of the first requirements to success, I find, are overlooked and neglected. It is usually just some fool thing overlooked or forgotten or something done in "just as good" manner that causes most of the failures. The little thing I have in mind today is nothing more than a bracket.

I have about come to the conclusion that some chap ought to hang out a shingle with "Radio Doctor" on it and then rig himself up a repair and emergency wagon with which to answer calls.

WAS NEATLY BUILT.

Twice lately I have been hauled out to help our friends. The first one had built a set with three stages of radio-frequency, detector and two of audio. He built it all nicely behind a twelve by twenty-four panel and mounted it on a ten by twenty-four board of bakelite for a base or bottom board.

He had used good judgment in selecting his instruments. The arrangement was particularly good and his wiring was about the best piece of amateur work I ever saw. It was a fine looking set, but he had not been able to gather in even a spark signal. He had checked and rechecked his wiring. Well, sometimes a fellow sort of goes stale when he is fussing around his own set, so, I checked his wiring. It was all right.

I started to look around for a short-circuited condenser or a bum transformer, when I noticed two little four by four-inch brackets in the centre of the twelve by twenty-four panel to hold it at right angles to the base. I had the phones on, and plugged into the first audio stage.

Those brackets looked foolish with that big panel leaning up against them, so I took hold of the top of the panel and pressed it in. Say, boys, I have a lot of respect for my ears, and that time I nearly lost them. WEAF was in on the super station of theirs and we were turned right in.

Sure I let loose of the panel to pull off the phones, but I lost WEAF when I let go the panel. There was not a thing wrong with that set, except that those little brackets just could not hold up that big panel.

HAD NO BRACKETS.

The other instance was this: A friend had purchased a loop receiver. It was a fine professional job. The company sent him a log of its test. But he could not get a squeak out of it. We found the same thing wrong with it. There were no brackets at all the hold the panel at right angles to the base.

So take my advice and start right. Get a good piece of straight, clean, dry lumber for a bottom. Fasten the panel to it with husky brackets extending at least three-quarters of the width of the bottom board. Use machine screws and nuts to fasten the brackets to the panel and bottom board. Don't ever use a wood screw to hold anything.

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Excellent radio receiving conditions may be expected tonight, with the weather bureau reporting a general cold wave over the entire country and uniform atmospheric pressure. Receiving should be good from all points and fans may expect to listen in on some of the far Western stations. It will probably be one night in a hundred when the Pacific Coast is coming through strong.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Mahoney

By DR. FRANCIS X. MAHONEY,
Boston Health Commissioner.

THE season for the great increase in pneumonia, bronchitis, tonsilitis and grippe, besides other respiratory diseases, is now with us, and, remembering the outbreak not long ago, it might be well that extra precaution be taken in order to prevent a repetition of this condition.

A common cold is a dangerous thing. It is not only dangerous to the individual but there is also the likelihood of his passing it on to others unless care is used. Coughing, spitting and sneezing are all mediums by which these diseases are spread.

It takes only a short time for a careless member of a family to be the cause of every member in that household having a cough or a cold. Not much attention is paid as to the reason or wherefore of the colds, but the fact remains that one member was the cause of all the others becoming infected.

Expectoration is dangerous in cars, shops, stores, or in fact any place where people congregate. Each individual should be careful to respect the rights of others. There are statutes and regulations forbidding this practice, but how often do we see evidence of violation after violation, especially on the sidewalks, in the subways and on the stairways leading to and from the elevated structures and the subways.

BRED OF IGNORANCE

A few years ago a campaign was inaugurated against these persistent and dangerous violators. The great number of people haled into court had a salutary effect on this dirty and unhygienic habit and for a long time our streets and public places were noticeably clean.

This promiscuous spitting, coughing and sneezing is not only dangerous but is a filthy habit bred of ignorance. If the person addicted to this habit will but use his handkerchief the danger will be minimized and he will be benefiting the entire community. He knows when he spits on the floors, stairways, etc., of public places he is violating the law, but thinks that he is not seen or detected and consequently will not be arrested.

The time may soon come when measures will again be adopted to prevent this filthy and dangerous habit. It is a good time for all that violate the spitting law to quit. There will be fewer arrests and less disease.

A handkerchief is easy to carry and the proper thing to use, so that when you must cough, spit or sneeze hold your handkerchief in front of your mouth and nose to receive the droplets and spray that are likely to be emitted. If you have no regard for yourself at least have some consideration for your fellow-man.

The Statute law says:

Spitting on Sidewalks, Floors and Platforms Prohibited.

Section 1. No person shall expectorate or spit upon any public sidewalk or upon any place used exclusively or principally by pedestrians, or, except in receptacles provided for the purpose, in or upon any part of the city or town hall, any court house or court room, any public library or museum, any church or theater, any lecture or music hall, any mill or factory, any hall of any tenement building occupied by five or more families, any school building, any ferryboat or steamboat, any railroad car, except a smoking car, any Elevated railroad car, except a smoking car, any street railway car, any railroad or railway station or waiting room, or any track, platform or sidewalk connected therewith, and included within the limits thereof.

PENALTY PROVIDED

Section 2. Whoever violates any provision of this act shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty dollars. Any person detected in the act of violating any provision of this act may be arrested by any officer authorized to serve criminal process in the place where the offence is committed, and kept in custody until he can be taken before a court which has jurisdiction of such offence; and if his name is unknown to the officer who makes the arrest, he may be arrested without a warrant."

The Health Department regulations concerning spitting in public places says:

"The Board of Health hereby adjudges that the deposit of sputum in public places is a nuisance, source of filth and cause of sickness, and hereby orders: That spitting upon the floor, platform, wall, roadbed, rails, ties or steps of any railroad or railway station or car, or on other surfaces belonging to any railroad or railway station, or car, or from any electric car while said car is in the subway or elevated above the surface of the ground, or upon the floor, platform, or steps of any public building, hall, church, theatre, market, or upon any public sidewalk, be and hereby is prohibited.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Dear Doctor—I bought a case of canned salmon at a sale recently, but after trying one can found that it had a bad taste. Is there any way I can get satisfaction?
T. O. L.

Answer—If the concern is still doing business you can get satisfaction either by calling on the owner of the goods or by calling it to the attention of the Food Division of the Health Department. You should remember that you cannot buy good canned goods so low under the market rate for this class of goods.

Dear Doctor—What is oleomargarine, and is it good to eat as butter?
M. E. T.

Answer—Oleomargarine is composed of a mixture of natural lard, beef fat and cottonseed oil, churned with milk in order to give it the flavor of butter. It is good to eat, and its consumption in this country is increasing. Of course, it is not butter, and when you order butter and pay for it as such and you receive oleomargarine you have been defrauded and deceived. It is far safer to eat than poor butter, or butter of a low grade.

Dear Doctor—What are the milk standards in Massachusetts?
K. J. B.

Answer—The United States standard requires 12 per cent. of the milk to consist of total solids, 8.5 per cent. of which shall be solids not fat, and 3.25 per cent. fat. The standard here in Boston, as in the whole State, is as follows: 12 per cent. for milk solids, 3.35 milk fat.

Dear Doctor—Is a person allowed to shake and beat rugs and mats from their windows? This is done by my neighbor, and the dust and dirt blacken the clothes on the lines and also enter my rooms downstairs.
SUBSCRIBER.

Answer—The shaking and beating of rugs, mats and carpets, in the manner you describe, is contrary to our regulations. Report the matter in writing or by telephone to the Sanitary Division of the Health Department.

Dear Doctor—Do shellfish become bad while in the water or after being removed from it?
A. G. B.

Answer—Shellfish may be bad when taken from the water, having been bred or having lived in water that was contaminated. Also, they may become bad after being removed from the water or bed. Shellfish should always be kept cold.

Concerning Bonus

Editor Boston American:

Mr. Mellon claims the bonus will cost $5,400,526,400. Think of it! Almost five and a half billion dollars! Just where he gets this enormous figure I do not know. He should be more explicit.

Five methods of bonus payment are proposed: 1. Adjusted service pay. 2. Adjusted service certificates. 3. Vocational training. 4. Farm or home aid. 5. Land settlement.

There are so many figures and estimates of the cost of the bonus it is difficult to know which are reliable. In all plans immediate cash payment seems to be the least expensive, but also the least popular with the administration.

Why not pay the bonus in cash and get it over with? I believe it would be the most popular method. Let us say there are 5,000,000 ex-service men entitled to the bonus, though there aren't that many. Getting $100 each, it would amount to $500,000,000—half a billion. Mr. Mellon figures five and a half billions but he is no doubt figuring on the insurance plan, with interest charges, administration, sinking fund, etc. But, under his plan, who would really get the bonus? It seems one has to be a capitalist to get the bonus. Looking at it from that viewpoint, it seems strange that the administration should be against it!
J. H.

International Finance

Editor Boston American:

Is Britain a "welcher"? The British-American thinks not. It says: "Washington recently received $23,000,000 to apply on principal; this in addition to the 1923 interest payment of $138,000,000." This appears to be all Washington received on a $4,000,000,000 five-year-old debt. At the time of the armistice it was estimated Britain had war supplies, including foodstuffs and clothing, purchased in the United States on credit, of considerably over $1,500,000,000 value. It's still on credit and sold.

British newspapers have commented on the successful merchandising of these vast supplies at good prices. Does Britain deserve especial credit for the payment of only $161,000,000 to Washington in five years out of the proceeds of the sale of over $1,500,000,000 of American people's property? This may not be considered "welching" in England. It could be called "all velvet" merchandising.
J. E. YOUNG.

Tariff, Not Slavery

Editor Boston American:

Wars are sometimes necessary and so are operations for appendicitis. The great general and the great surgeon are still necessary in the social and physical ills which afflict mankind. But war is looked upon as a glorious thing, while illness is looked upon as a miserable evil.

Who remembers the name of a single one of the surgeons who amputated the shattered limbs of the wounded on the battlefield of Gettysburg? Lee and Meade are remembered, but they are forgotten. The great soldier who uses his talents in defense of human liberty is rightly entitled to honor, but the thing has been overdone.

One reason for this is that the cause of war is not given the cold scientific scrutiny which the cause of disease is given. It has been the policy of statesmen to obscure the true causes in their sordid origins and seize on small incidental contemporaneous evil and point it out as the predominating cause.

The degrading brutality of Negro slavery in the South was not the cause of the Civil War, yet it is cleverly implied to be in the school histories in the North. The Southern States, whose industries needed no protective tariff, wished to buy its manufactured articles in the free trade world market, but the northern manufacturers controlling the majority votes in Congress wished to compel the South to buy their protected products. The Southern states withdrew from the Union in order that they could set aside the tariff laws of the North. The United States government went to war with them, not for the purpose of freeing the slaves, but as Lincoln said, "to preserve the Union."

THE HELPING HAND

August, and I am awfully discouraged at times, as I haven't any clothing for my youngest baby. He needs such a great many things that I am really ashamed to tell all. I have a single little dress for him and only a very few diapers. He has no cape and no crib. I have only a thin coat for myself. I wear size 38 or 40. I am very handy at making things over.
MRS. L. D. 2.

Address Sent

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a warm overcoat for a boy fourteen; also some infant's things. Can be called for after 6:30 p. m.
MRS. I. N.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. McG., who is trying to bring up a family on ten dollars a week from the city.

Helping Others

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a very warm short gray overcoat size 40 that I would like to send to someone who wants it. My conscience will not let me keep it any longer, as I have no use for it. I love to read of your people helping so many.
MRS. M. E. W.

We like to write about it, too. You have been sent the address of Mrs. K. H. T., who asked for a coat size 40. Thank you.

For Girl of Fifteen

Editor Helping Hand:

I hope through your column to be able to get the name of someone needing a coat. I have one that would fit a girl fourteen or fifteen.
F. A. M.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. E. E. H., who has a daughter that age in need of clothing.

Has Rheumatism

Editor Helping Hand:

Is there someone who will help me? I have been suffering with sciatic rheumatism and unable to do any work. I am fortunate enough to be among friends who are giving me a home, but they cannot help me in clothing, of which I am badly in need. I wear size 44 or 46, and size 6 or 6½ shoes.
MRS. L. H. 3.

For Needy Family

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a few things that I would like to send to some needy family. The children's things consist of three pairs of bloomers size 3, two scarfs, five hats up to nine years, two hats for a girl fourteen, one skirt for girl nine, sweater for a girl nine, sweater for a boy six, two undershirts size 3, things for a small woman, one heavy undershirt, silk sweater size 38, pair rubbers size 4½, and for a working man, a medium-size vest, three working shirts size 15, one light shirt and two collars. I would like these things to go to one family.
MRS. H. T. A.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Viola, the oldest of a large family of girls, whose father is working four days a week and trying to pay a bunch of doctor's bills at the same time.

Various Observations

On Various Matters—and Short

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

Secretary Hughes is slated to head the New York delegation to the National Republican Convention. Watch out for those delegates, if he gets a chance to recite "Red Flag Shall Not Wave Tonight!"

The Chancellor of Austria says his people are in terrible shape and need help. After our Civil War, the South was in terrible shape; she was crushed, chaotic, bleeding, but she didn't beg from one end of Europe to the other; she fought and worked her way out!

It would be interesting to tune in on the meditations of H. H. Rogers, the First, who made the money which now meets with the Count's magnanimous approval. "H. H." had the attack of a lion and the expression of a golf player.

Those who advocate that we snub Russia should reflect that she has the most resources and the most resistance. The bear is the only flesh-eating animal that can hibernate all Winter and not eat a bite.

Old-fashioned preachers fought the devil, but new-fashioned preachers fight each other like the devil. And they are among the international peace specialists who have been trying to get Uncle Sam into the League of Nations.

Cheapest Labor in World

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

What is the cheapest labor in the world? Not the tribesman's who carries a pack in Africa, or the coolie's who shoves a sampan on the Chinese rivers. No; but the wife's and mother's in the home.

No man who earns $20 a week and gives his wife $15 of it but thinks he is a model husband, supporting her and the family. And then descends upon her the municipal government, which insists that she get her children to school clean and, if possible, neat; the welfare workers, who tell her how she must keep her premises sanitary and her children's food nourishing and varied; the landlord, the shopkeepers and her old man himself, who thinks he has a right to a little bit of comfort and relaxation at home.

She is no fool. She may not be formally educated, but she is no fool. Inefficiency goes under in the struggle she has to go through. She knows all about the eight-hour day; she works two of them in every twenty-four hours. She knows all about the theory of recreation from change of type of work; she has half a dozen types of work, all steady jobs. She knows all about fatigue-points, too, from constant, practical experience.

Why does she so seldom strike? Partly because of the human tendency to stay in a rut; habit what William James called the "great flywheel of society." Partly from pride; most of us would rather go to smash than be pitied by our neighbors. Partly from the persistence of that traitor to self-interest, the maternal instinct; she goes on year after year, racking her body with hard labor and her brain with worry, every so often facing suffering and even death to give another life to the world, recognizing the grimness of her lot, but accepting it often with hardly even a complaint.

Surely she ought to have a paragraph to herself in the constitution of every labor organization. For if the rights of any sort of labor, under any sort of conditions, deserve to be recognized, surely hers do.

Senator Wheeler Warns

United States Senator Wheeler of Montana delivered a homely little talk to some prominent people of Massachusetts who were gathered at luncheon last week to meet him. He was welcomed by the Governor, Mayor of Boston, an ex-Governor, an ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, a judge of the United States Court, a former Attorney-General, three former United States attorneys and many other prominent men and women.

Senator Wheeler talked very plainly and very frankly, but it was the kind of talk that must be expected from a man who has won his spurs in the kind of fighting in which he has been engaged.

Senator Wheeler was raised to the United States Senate by public approval of his conduct as United States attorney for the State of Montana during the war. It was then that he refused to prostitute his powerful office to the evil designs of malice and greed, to the attempts of employers to destroy labor organizations and to the intrigues of industrial spies. All under the guise of super-patriotism. In consequence of his stalwart attitude he nearly lost his life at the hands of a gang of armed thugs hired by one of the great corporations of that State. Only the shrewdness and promptness and courage of a couple of farmers, armed, one with a rifle and the other with a shotgun, both standing so far in the shadow that these thugs could not tell whether there were two men or a whole company of men, saved the Senator's life.

He appealed to the people of the State for vindication as the candidate for the United States Senate. They elected him by the largest plurality ever given a candidate for the United States Senate in that State. He went to Washington as a Democrat—not as a conventional Democrat, not as a sentimental Democrat, not as a sectional Democrat, but as a Democrat from conviction—as a Democrat after Jefferson's idea of a Democrat, and he prepared to follow democracy, spelled with a small "d," wherever he finds her, whether in the ranks of a progressive party under the leadership of Senator La Follette or elsewhere.

It was his truculent democracy, spelled with a small "d," which inspired the fight led by Senator La Follette to unseat Senator Cummins from the powerful chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate, where a great fight is to be made on the vital railroad question.

Senator Wheeler told those gathered at this luncheon that, if the Democratic party failed in steadfastness during this session of Congress and failed to present to the people a real democrat, spelled with a small "d," as candidate for President, we should work for a third party, which will come along even faster than the British Labor party which is about to take control of the British government.

He also warned Wall Street and State Street against an attempt to tamper with the radical Senators which the Middle West and Northwest have elected. He declared that if these radical Senators betray their constituents, through the temptations presented by Wall Street and State Street, their constituents will send back to the United States Senate men who will make these present so-called radicals look like conservatives.

LISTEN, WORLD! -:- By Elsie Robinson

YOU CAN'T PREACH THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN IF YOU FORGET TO MENTION THAT THIS BABY WORKS IN OUR BEET FIELDS

MR. HORATIO S. EARLE, former State Senator in Michigan, and one time candidate for Governor, has resigned from the Methodist Church of which he has been an active member for forty-five years.

"I want to hear the Gospel instead of politics from the pulpit," says Mr. Earle. "We need a great country-wide revival, with the pastors of all Christian churches in the pews, and the lay members who believe in the doctrine of Jesus Christ in the pulpits, preaching repentance, forgiveness, brotherly love, and so forth. Instead of driving the people away with politics and subscription blanks for the Anti-Saloon League, give them the Gospel."

The Rev. Charles R. Scafe, a Detroit Presbyterian pastor, agrees with Mr. Earle. He says: "The world is disappointed, and has a right to be, when the pulpit departs from the preaching of the Bible as the Word of God and Jesus Christ as the needed and all-sufficient Savior of mankind. Politics will never regenerate a soul."

This matter concerns more than Mr. Horatio S. Earle and the Rev. Charles R. Scafe. It concerns YOU and ME. It concerns the beggar on the street, the undernourished child in the tenement, the discouraged farmer on the ranch, the poorly paid striker on the docks, the criminal behind his bars. What is religion, anyway? Is it a mass of ritual and ceremonial between man and an Unseen Presence dealing with abstract problems? Will such a procedure save a man's soul? Well, it might—if man were that kind of creature. But he isn't. Man's mental and spiritual apparatus is still in a very crude stage. It doesn't think in mystical terms nor deal with abstract problems. You may PREACH brotherly love from the pulpit, but Bill Jones isn't THINKING or LIVING brotherly love that way. If he's living it at all he is living it in terms of Fair Wages, Decent Housing Conditions, Better Immigration Laws, Less Graft, School Bonds. By such considerations, and only by such considerations, does Bill Jones grab hold of the Brotherly Love idea.

And when you get right down to bed rock, that's exactly how Jesus Christ taught brotherly love and other virtues. We have a scant record of all He must have said during the three years of His ministry, but even that brief account bears ample testimony to His preaching technique. Did He give long-winded quotations from the religious classics as did the rabbis of His day? He did not. He was a sensible man, a practical God and a Great Artist. He talked in terms of local color. He talked about vineyards and sheepfolds, stewards and fishermen and housewives, sowing and weaving and farming. He talked about these things in a simple, direct way, with colorful handling of the details of each craft. He played upon popular prejudices and tradition in making his point. He wove His philosophy into the daily adventurings of his audience. This much is proven by the written report.

It is only reasonable to assume that He gathered that philosophy from very familiar converse with the workers of his day and that He took part in discussions of town topics with intelligent enthusiasm. Naturally, we haven't a record of the row over the water supply taxation in Bethany or the howl about the road assessment in Capernaum. But is it sensible to suppose that a popular leader of poor and oppressed men took no part in discussions which affected their lives and their morals most vitally?

The Christian religion has survived because, despite our terrible misinterpretation of its philosophy, that religion was rooted in the deep soil of common human experience. Christ was able to understand the souls of men because He also understood their gullets and gizzards. And no preaching is going to reach men which departs from that technique. You can't teach Purity—and shut your eyes to Segregated Districts. You can't preach peace—and forget Wall Street. You can't enjoin the Love of Little Children—and refuse to study our present Labor laws. For as yet we are creatures of the earth, nourished by the things of the earth and finding our salvation through earthly functioning. And if religion would cleanse our lives it must leave the cloisters, as did the Christ, and walk the common trail.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON UNUSED SPACES OF THE EARTH

By Dr. Frank Crane

THERE are all sorts of great problems, but one of the greatest is the problem of getting the people away from the crowds and out into the open spaces.

When Lloyd George was making his trip through the American Continent, his tour led through Canada, through a region but little removed from the primitive wilderness.

Passing on his special train to the north of Lake Superior, he made a few stops at isolated points where the loghouse is still used, and where big game is plentiful. At Hudson Bay Company points Indians were conspicuous, drawn up in silent lines beside the train.

The former Premier enjoyed his experience to the full, with its fascinating scenery of woods and quiet lakes. His comment was:

"It is like passing through an endless picture gallery by a first-class artist. Why there should be slums in Europe when there is so much wealth here I do not know."

What puzzled the honorable gentleman is the same thing that puzzles all of us. Why should people live in dirt and ugliness, bad smells and angry contention, when they might live out where there is beauty, and freedom, and opportunity?

One reason, perhaps, is that the multitudes are cowardly and lazy. In cities they can easily go out and get good food, done up in attractive packages at a grocery store. In the country they have to hustle for themselves—raise their own grain, and kill their own meat.

Mr. Van Loon, in his interesting Story of the Bible, suggests that this was why the Jews hated to leave Egypt, and why Moses had such a hard job in leading them out into the Wilderness and to the Promised Land. They had been so long city dwellers in Egypt that they had become soft and spiritless—that, notwithstanding that their condition was one of distressing slavery, they had acquired the spirit of the slave—and it took a good deal of encouragement to buck them up to the point where they were willing to start out for themselves.

Mr. Wells in that amazing story, "Men Like Gods," describes the condition of what he imagines the world will be some twenty-five thousand years from now. And one of the points he makes is that there will be no more great cities, and no more living in vast crowds. The people will have progressed far enough in civilization, and will have developed transportation, especially by air, to such an extent that they will have utilized the great spaces, and the population will be much more generally spread throughout the surface of the earth.

One cannot ride, as Lloyd George did, throughout the vast American Continent and not wonder why the people do not make more use of it, why the vast plains, beautiful valleys and lovely woodlands are so vacant and why the smoky and stuffy cities are so packed. Doubtless, as time goes on and intelligence and invention increase, the day will come when our children's children will know a deal better than we know how to make use of this pleasant earth.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON RADIO WAVES

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

Referring to the recent hearing of the radio by workmen in a tunnel, why should it be regarded as surprising, if the Hertzian waves are, as we suppose is the case, able to pass through anything? What proof has been given that "wireless" passes around the earth and not through it?—Inquirers.

I DO not see any reason why "radio" should not be heard in a tunnel or in a deep mine, provided that the hearer has a receiving apparatus. In any such situation the waves could reach the hearer through the air. Whether they would similarly affect one placed far down in the earth without any aerial connection whatever with the surface, is another question, and one that cannot be answered by practical experiment. Theoretically, as you say, and practically, too, as far at least as such obstructions as the walls of buildings are concerned, the waves seem able freely to penetrate matter.

Prefer Aerial Route

Nevertheless, there is evidence that they prefer the aerial route, even if they are not confined to it. In long-distance communication it is the general belief the waves follow the curvature of the earth's surface. This bending round the globe is not ascribed to any refractive effect of the air, but to a series of reflection of the waves produced by their encountering what might be called an electric mirror formed in the higher levels of the atmosphere by layers of perpetually ionized air.

But there are many puzzling circumstances which keep the inventors of such hypotheses on the jump. However, only philosophical minds, which long to know the how and the why of things, are much disturbed over these difficulties; while the worldly-minded person is satisfied if, practically, the trouble can be overcome. He doesn't care how the waves go provided that they get there. This is what he calls "getting results." But the results that the thinker seeks are of a deeper nature.

Consider this fact: The Hertz, or radio, waves are assumed to be conveyed as vibrations in "the ether," and the ether is assumed to penetrate all matter. As recent studies in the composition of the atom have shown that matter—even the solidest—is mostly empty space, there is, on that account perhaps, so much the less difficulty in understanding how the ether may be able to penetrate it so easily—to blow through it like a wind, as some have said.

Yet, notwithstanding its apparent perfect penetration by the ether, matter certainly does offer opposition to the passage of ether waves. These waves comprise several kinds, such as light, heat, etc., characterized by their various wave lengths, or frequencies.

In the case of the light waves we find that their motion is somewhat obstructed even by transparent bodies, such as water or glass, while they are absolutely stopped by solid, opaque substances. Yet they are borne by the ether. If the ether gets in, apparently, it cannot carry the waves with it.

Varies With Length

More than that, the obstruction varies with the wave length of the light. The short blue waves suffer more interference in glass or water than the long red waves.

Now, this is important for our consideration, because the radio waves are exceedingly long, from which fact we logically may conclude that they should be able to pass without much obstruction through even the densest and most opaque substances. Without much obstruction, yes: but surely not without some obstruction. And if here is some obstruction, then we see a reason why radio prefers to travel over the earth's surface rather than through the ground. Of course, the ground acts to establish electric readjustment, just as in the case of ordinary telegraphy.

If you take a piece of any metal which is impenetrable to light, and slice or pound it out thin enough, light will pass through it. We may suppose that the walls of houses and masses of matter up to a certain thickness are, in like manner, transparent to radio waves, because the quantity of resistance diminishes with the diminishing thickness of the obstructing matter.

There are circumstances which indicate that even varying states of the atmosphere have a strong effect upon the transmission of the radio waves. There is an immense field for investigation here, but only those corners of it which promise a money return will be touched.
